STAINS NAME OF ILLINOIS, SAYS ROOT

New York Senator Maintains Lorimer Election Invalid and Disgraceful.

HALE ASKS FOR A DEFENSE

Stability of Senate and Government of United States Is the Issue.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. Senator Root of New York today leaped to a position of leadership among the anti-Lorimer forces in the Senate and caused the case temporarily to be lifted above the attack upon the individual so as to bare the blotch upon the name of Illinois.

When Mr. Root concluded, Senator Hale pleaded with tremulous voice for some friend of the state, and he suggested Senator Cullom, to make a reply to Mr. Root's speech, which would exonerate not only Lorimer but Illinois.

"I refuse to believe a people are rotten to the core," said Senator Bailey of Texas. "If we are to try senators on the general misconduct of legislatures, then the senator whose right is challenged now is not the only one who must yield his seat.

"His colleague, Mr. Cullom, was elected by one of those legislatures and no man here believes he was a party to any of these evil practices; but still the case of Lorimer is the case of Cullom."

Senator Lorimer had numerous defenders who replied to the attack upon him and the method of his election. Chief among them was Senator Heyburn of Idaho, a member of the Lorimer investigating committee, who charged that some persons had entered into the attack upon Lorimer in the spirit of a man hunt.

Mr. Root began his speech soon after the Senate convened. Without he had previously announced what his position was to be. Before he had proceeded far, it developed he went beyond the position of others who have condemned the election of Lorimer as having been accompanied by bribery.

Seven Votes Immaterial.

He dismissed as immaterial the controversy over the question of eliminating the seven alleged tainted votes from the total vote on joint ballot as well as from the number received by Lorimer.

The rottenness shown by the testimony, contended Mr. Root, was sufficient to invalidate the election of Lorimer and he asserted that all of the following of Lee O'Neill Browne, the Democratic leader in the Illinois assembly, was corrupt and the votes of that following should have been eliminated.

Mr. Root reached the conclusion that deducting the seven votes, Mr. Lorimer had been left without a major-

"A Vision From God" Makes Woman Snatch Coffin From a Grave

STANFORD, Ky., Feb. 3.—"A vision from God told me that he would rise again," said Mrs. Amanda I. Harrison, in confessing before Judge Bailey this afternoon that she worked all of Tuesday night digging into the grave and removing the casket containing the body of George B. Saufley, the attorney, which was found above the grave early Wednesday.

Mrs. Harrison, who was arrested in a remote part of Adair county, nearly 100 miles away, today, readily admitted her connection with the attempted grave robbery, and said she had no accomplices.

In explanation of the weird story Mrs. Harrison said that on last Saturday morning she experienced a vision from God in which she was assured that the attorney would rise from the dead if the earth covering him should be removed.

Confiding her intention to no one, Mrs. Harrison went about her plans for freeing the body. Before leaving her home on the night of her quest, she prayed fervently; and, stealing into the cemetery about midnight, began her task.

With hands unused to a spade, she says she shoveled the dirt from the grave, confident the end of her task meant the restoration to life of the man who had secured her a divorce. After she had removed all of the dirt from over the casket and had lifted it above the earth, she was unable to remove the lid, said Mrs. Harrison, and lights in the distance warned her that people were being aroused, and that the dawn was near.

Thereupon, she abandoned her task, and, having previously requisitioned the services of the son of one of her tenants, departed for Adair county.

It was at the home of relatives that she was found today by officers, accompanied by Rowan Saufley, brother of the attorney. The warrant against Mrs. Harrison charged her with desecrating a grave.

In default of bail, Mrs. Harrison is being detained tonight in the jailer's private home.

WILL ATTACK JUAREZ TODAY

REBELS SERVE NOTICE OF INTENTION.

Enrique Creel Assures All That Diaz Government Has Control.

EL PASO, Feb. 3.—Official notice from insurrecto General Orozco to the American consul of an attack upon Juarez within 24 hours from the time the note is delivered, was received at 10:30 tonight.

EL PASO, Feb. 3. At 11 o'clock tonight Juarez is quiet and dark, but with the knowledge that an attack on the town by the insurrectos is sure within the next 24 hours.

There is apprehension that the attack is coming tonight, but the information of the rebel sympathizers is that it will come early in the day tomorrow.

The provisional governor of Chihuahua, Abraham Gonzales, is perhaps the only man in this city who knows the exact hour, and he is keeping the information safely locked within his own breast. It is believed the city of Juarez will put up but a show of resistance and before tomorrow night will be in the hands of Orozco and Blanco, who are so close tonight they could see the lights of the city if they were burning.

The railways entering El Paso yesterday received notice from Mexico City of the embargo against all traffic over the Mexican National railway from Juarez south.

No intimation was given as to how long it is expected the embargo will continue. No trains have moved on the line today in or out of Juarez.

There is no truth in rumors that Juarez officials have fled over into this city. The chief of police has moved over into El Paso, he states, in a published interview on account of differences with other Juarez officials. He says he will become an American citizen and engage in business here. The other Juarez officials are at their posts in that city tonight.

New Chief of Police.

Andreas Salaises of San Buena Ventura was appointed chief of police to succeed Antonio Ponce de Leon, resigned, and took charge today.

No scouting parties have been sent out by the federals from Ciudad Juarez and no engagement has yet occurred.

John Winthrope, a reliable citizen of this city, has just returned from a trip south of Juarez. He reports that Orozco at 6 o'clock was exactly 10 miles south of Juarez, rapidly advancing with 600 men and Blanco is coming up from the west with 500 men.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon a temporary telegraph circuit was made up, Juarez via El Paso, San Antonio and Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City. Officials in Juarez communicated to officials in Mexico City the defeat of Rabago by Orozco about 10 days ago in the Galanea district and imparted the further information that there was not enough ammunition in Juarez to make a successful defense of the city.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—Maintaining that the government of Mexico had the revolutionary situation well in hand, that foreign interests were not endangered, and that the movement will soon be subdued, Enrique Creel, minister of foreign relations, tonight gave to the Associated Press a statement setting forth the government's advices.

Minister Creel said he had not received any information as to the reported beginning of fighting at Ciudad Juarez. Speaking for the government, Minister Creel said:

"The political situation in Chihuahua continues to be about the same as

EXPLOSION WAS DUE TO DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS

Inspector Says Having Powder on Ship Was Against Policy of the Company.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Ten thousand pounds of black powder on board the lighter Katherine W., "contrary to the company policy and orders," probably caused the explosion of dynamite at Communipaw, N. J., on Wednesday, according to Dr. W. G. Hudson, inspector of the Dupont-De Nemours Powder company.

"This powder," he said, "was part of a Dupont shipment for South America, as was the dynamite, but it should have been delivered to a steamship before the dynamite was taken aboard.

"Contrary to general belief," said Dr. Hudson, "black powder is far more dangerous than dynamite. We believe the powder became ignited and, in exploding, detonated some of the dynamite—not much of it. Dynamite freezes at about 45 degrees Fahrenheit, and it is nearly impossible to explode when frozen. The temperature on the day of the explosion, and for a week before, was below 45."

Hudson Maxim, the inventor, an authority on explosives, inclined to the same belief. He agreed that the after-effects of the explosion suggested gunpowder rather than dynamite.

The eight men charged with manslaughter and criminal carelessness surrendered today.

"The eight arrests are only a beginning," said Prosecutor Garvan of Hudson county. "It is not our intention to pick out little men in the employ of big corporations; we are after the men really responsible."

The lake is situated in the center of the island of Luzon, and the tidal wave, molten lava and showers of mud and stones that followed the eruption of Mt. Taal, killed more than 300 people and injured hundreds more.

In Manila, which is only 34 miles from the volcano, there is great uneasiness, particularly among the native population, many of whom are preparing to leave. It is reported that 20 villages were destroyed.

ENGINEER STEWART RECEIVES REWARD

Man Who Prevented Robbery of Midland Train Gets Watch and $300.

When "Big Four" (F. W.) Stewart swung into his engine cab last night, caught his conductor's signal, and started the Midland railway passenger train out of the yards for her midnight run through the mountains, he tucked a bit of gleaming gold and crystal into a pocket at his belt with a smile.

Several hours before the train pulled out Stewart had been called before his chief, J. R. Groves, master mechanic of the Midland shops, and presented with a magnificent watch, the gift of the company, and bearing the engraved signature of the president of the road. It was given to "Big Four," the inscription reads, as a recognition of the bravery he displayed late one night last summer when an attempt was made to loot the express car on train No. 3, of which he was engineer.

The time piece—a railroad man's Bible—is a masterpiece of the jeweler's art, but there was also another reason for Stewart's broad smile as his engine slipped over the frogs and past the signal lights in the outer yards and the big mountain climber gathered headway in her flight westward. For at the same time the old engineer was presented with the jeweled Waltham, W. W. Cowen, representative here of the Wells-Fargo Express company, handed the Midland pilot a bag of gold at the company's offices, where the double presentation was made yesterday afternoon. It was a purse of $300, the express company's way of expressing its appreciation of the service Stewart performed that night when a masked highwayman crept across the tender and covered him and his fireman with a brace of automatic guns.

"To Frank W. Stewart, in recognition of coolness and bravery displayed, as well as service rendered, in effectually repelling an attack and preventing a holdup on Colorado Midland passenger No. 3 near Muskeg, Colo., September 1, 1910, in which an unidentified train robber was killed," is a part of the congratulatory note from the Wells-Fargo offices.

A Standing Reward.

The company has a standing reward of $300 in gold for the arrest and conviction of train robbers, and Superintendent C. L. McKenzie instructed that the reward be paid to Stewart for valiant services in preventing a lone bandit from getting inside the express car and into the company's safes.

One other mark of appreciation was bestowed upon "Big Four," as he is known on the road, before he was permitted to go. The company gave him an annual frank, by which he will be accorded free shipping privileges over the entire Wells-Fargo system.

No. 3, heavily laden, was running through the mountains about midnight on September 1. Stewart had slowed down in approaching a trestle, when both he and his fireman were ordered to throw up their hands by a masked man clambering over the tender.

FRIENDS ACT WHEN MAN SPENDS MONEY

C. E. Conner, Recently Out of Hospital, Buys Cattle Until Others Stop Him.

Believing that he had left the Glockner sanatorium too soon after undergoing a delicate and serious operation, C. E. Conner was taken back to the institution yesterday morning, when his friends learned of his condition.

Conner left the sanatorium early this week and since then much of his time has been spent in traveling about in an automobile, visiting nearby points where live stock is for sale, and which he is said to have purchased freely. Checks that, it is believed, will amount to $2,000 or $3,000, drawn on the El Paso National bank were given for the purchases, but payment on them has been stopped at the bank because it is believed that Conner is too ill to appreciate the volume of business he has been transacting.

Conner lives about 10 miles from Colorado Springs and at one time was reputed to be worth about $25,000. He has been known in the city for 15 or 20 years and at one time was identified with a Colorado Springs dairy company. Following this business venture, he was connected with the Boist market in Colorado City.

The operation from which it is believed that Conner has not entirely recovered was performed a short time ago at the Glockner. It was one of the most delicate operations on the stomach that has ever been performed in Colorado Springs, and Conner's friends believe that he left the sanatorium too ill and too weak to realize just what he was doing in business matters. Payment on the checks he issued has been stopped pending further investigation.

SUDDEN ILLNESS CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF TRIP

The sudden and serious illness of George E. Nolte of 228 Cheyenne avenue, caused the postponement of a trip that Mr. and Mrs. Nolte had planned to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Nolte, who is treasurer of the Colorado Title and Trust company, was taken ill with an attack of pleurisy at his office yesterday morning. He was removed to his home and his case is still regarded with considerable alarm.

The journey to California, which had been decided upon for the benefit of Mrs. Nolte's health, has been postponed indefinitely. Mr. and Mrs. Nolte had arranged to leave for the west last night.

WILL ELECTION NOW BE LEGAL?

U. S. LAW REQUIRES SENATORIAL VOTE DAILY.

Legislature Adjourned to Monday—G. A. R. Objecting to Bill Aiding Confederates.

DENVER, Feb. 3.—The action of the state legislature today in adjourning over until Monday, eliminating the daily vote on the United States senatorship tomorrow, is being discussed from all angles tonight. Apparently nobody thought of the federal law which provides that a vote must be taken each day until a selection is made, but after the session many expressed the belief that any selection made now would be invalid by reason of the failure to cast a ballot tomorrow.

Others contend that each day referred to in the federal law means legislative day and that there is no legislative day when both houses are in recess.

There was practically no change in the vote for senator this morning in the Eighteenth general assembly. The Republicans voted for C. W. Waterman, a Denver attorney. The result: Speer, 26; Adams, 19; Thomas, 5; Ward, 4; O'Donnell, 3; Martin, 2; Taylor, 2; Maupin, 2; Shafroth, 1; Waterman, 29; Goudy, 1; Dawson, 1; Valle, 1; McCreery, 1.

Both houses spent up to 11:30 last night receiving bills. There were 370 bills introduced into the two houses yesterday. This makes a total of 1,122 for the two houses. The bills introduced covered almost every subject on which legislation is possible.

Many Bills Introduced.

There was a railroad commission bill. Senator Cornforth introduced one for a racing commission to take charge of horse racing similar to the law that was in force in New York for a number of years. Then there was a bill introduced to compel newspapers to print the names of owners and editors, and another, for the teaching of blind adults.

The house this morning passed on third reading a bill to provide that the head of the family shall be the one who supports the family. That is, if the wife earns the money, she is the head of the family. This was introduced by Mrs. Kerwin of Denver. A communication was received from the anti-injunction league this morning requesting the house to proceed at once with the impeachment of Judge Whitford.

The procedure is that the house brings the charges and the senate hears the case. Owing to the late session last night neither house met until 11 o'clock this morning.

G. A. R. Stirred Up.

The veterans of the Union army have declared war on a bill introduced in the legislature recently which has passed the house. They want it killed because an amendment permits veterans of the Confederate army to enter the Colorado state soldiers and sailors home.

At a meeting of the council of administration of the G. A. R. resolutions were passed condemning the action of the house and declaring for Union soldiers only in the soldiers home.

The bill was introduced originally in the house by Mr. Allen, of Denver, at the request of the G. A. R. and provides that the wives of Union soldiers be permitted to enter the home with their husbands. Widows of old soldiers were barred.

The House debated the bill for more than an hour. Most of the speakers declaring that sectional differences should be forgotten and that the gray should be given equal privileges with the blue. The bill was passed with the amendment and sent to the senate.

"I received so many letters of protest," said Colonel W. W. Ferguson, department commander of Colorado and Wyoming today, "that I decided to call a meeting of the council of administration which is composed of all department officers. All former department commanders also attended.

The council declared emphatically against the amendment because the members feel the two classes of veterans cannot get along together and also because we should need a larger appropriation to maintain the home. We shall work to kill the bill absolutely rather than have the amendment passed."

Colonel Ferguson declared there is only a handful of Confederate soldiers in the state. He said the G. A. R. believes the state should make special provision for the Confederate veterans if it desires to take care of them.

U. S. GUNBOAT HAS YELLOW FEVER ABOARD

ON BOARD THE U. S. SHIP MARIETTA AT SEA, via wireless to New Orleans, Feb. 3.—The gunboat Marietta, proceeding from Honduran waters to Key West, was off Cape San Antonio today. There are four cases of yellow fever on board. These are described as two mild, now convalescent, and two moderately severe, which have passed the critical stage. None of the officers are ill and no new cases developed since Monday.

MRS. SAGE DONATES $300,000 TO CORNELL

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 3.—A gift of $300,000 from Mrs. Russell Sage to Cornell university was announced by President Jacob Gould Schurmann today to provide a new dormitory for women students.

It will be known as Prudence Risley hall in memory of the mother of Mrs. Sage.

The youngest member of the United States senate, Luke Lea of Tennessee, who was recently elected by the legislature at Nashville. Mr. Lea is only 32 years of age, and although he has been prominent in politics for the past five years, he has never before been a candidate for office. He is a member of an old aristocratic southern family, and a graduate of the University of Sewanee. He is owner of the Nashville Tennessean and American, and is head of that wing of the Democratic party in Tennessee opposed to ex-Governor Malcolm R. Patterson.

LAST PLAY GROUNDS MEETING TONIGHT

Dr. H. S. Curtis, lecturer for the Playgrounds association of America, in his addresses before the High School yesterday morning and a mass meeting at the Columbia school last night, outlined the playgrounds of Germany and play in the English schools. The meeting of the Columbia and Helen Hunt schools last night was one of the most enthusiastic of the week, and the school was crowded.

Dr. Curtis told, from his experiences in other countries, of the work the playground movement is accomplishing and illustrated his talk with stereopticon views.

"Organized and supervised play has accomplished wonders for the health, social and economic conditions of all the foreign countries, as well as the United States," Dr. Curtis said. "Games in the other countries are not played with the sole intent of winning, but to give the participants a good time. This idea is somewhat different from that in vogue in the United States."

Dr. Curtis will end his series of lectures this evening with an address at a mass meeting at the High School. The Annex, Garfield and High School students and parents are invited to attend this meeting. Dr. Curtis has abandoned the idea of Sunday meetings, and will leave Sunday morning for Kansas City, where he will address a joint meeting of the Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., ministerial associations.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN SOON TO BE CALLED TO REST

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—The physicians in attendance on Archbishop Ryan said tonight at midnight that the condition of the prelate had grown rapidly worse since early in the evening, and "that it is really remarkable that he is alive."

The heart action, which has given the physicians much concern, became so weak the pulsations were scarcely perceptible.

Dr. La Place said tonight that the "vitality of the archbishop is most remarkable. His life is hanging by a slender cord. It does not seem possible that he can survive many hours."

PHILADELPHIA POSTMASTER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 3.—Richard L. Ashhurst, postmaster of Philadelphia, mysteriously disappeared from the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel last Monday night, and no trace of him has since been found, according to a statement given out by the police tonight. He is supposed to have fallen from the million-dollar pier the night he disappeared.

Postmaster Ashhurst came here on Monday. Steven Lacy, a chair pusher, said on that night he had rolled the missing man from the hotel to the pier, but so far as can be learned he never came back to the hotel. [illegible] after going to the pier. It is supposed he became faint and fell into the ocean.

Search for the missing guest began Tuesday when the Philadelphia postmaster failed to reach his home in that city. For three days the family, aided by the police, conducted a quiet investigation there on the theory that he had returned. He was 72 years old.

MUST COME UP EVERY DAY IN SENATE

PENROSE TRIES FILIBUSTER

Dangerous Point in Fight for Direct Representation Passed Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—After a series of thrilling experiences Senator Borah, supported by progressive Republicans and Democrats, made tremendous advances through the lines of old guard Republicans and placed the resolution for the popular election of senators in a most advantageous position, squarely in front of the enemy's goal.

After taking several rebuffs, the Idaho senator pounded away until he landed his resolution in the favored place on the legislative program and it must come up every day as the unfinished business.

The moment the Lorimer case was laid aside, Senators Nelson and Borah clamored for recognition. Vice President Sherman saw Mr. Nelson first and gave him the floor. He moved to take up the bill to regulate the leasing of Alaska coal lands, whereupon Mr. Borah promptly moved to lay that motion on the table. This move failed 35 to 41.

Most senators thought this settled the question and that the Borah resolution had been successfully relegated to a position where it would not prove a dangerous factor in the legislative program during the short time remaining of the Congress.

After the Senate had proceeded with the Alaskan bill for a short time, Mr. Nelson gave way to Senator Warren to make a motion that the Senate adjourn until Monday. Mr. Borah here jumped into the fray again. He said that he would object and that he did so because it had become apparent that senators opposed to his resolution would not give consideration to it if they could help it. He demanded a roll call on the motion to adjourn until Monday and this time he won by a small margin.

Thus encouraged, Mr. Borah asked that his resolution be made the unfinished business of the Senate.

Executive Session Denied.

From the previous roll call it appeared that this resolution might be given this preference and Senator Penrose hurriedly moved an executive session. Such a motion may be made at any time and therefore Mr. Borah again found himself elbowed out of the way. As the executive motion was being put to the Senate Mr. Borah demanded a roll call, secured a sufficient number of seconds and the call was ordered.

On what was regarded as the most significant vote of the day, the executive session was denied 36 to 40. All of those who voted in the affirmative are regarded as lined up against popular elections of senators and those who voted in the negative are known to be in favor of this policy.

All the affirmative votes were cast by Republicans, but several Republican

MAN'S STRANGE ACTIONS LEAD TO INVESTIGATION

Man Giving Name of James Tweed May Be Tried as to Sanity—Frightened Passerby on Road.

Picked up after he had frightened several people by his actions in the vicinity of the M. W. A. sanatorium northwest of the city, a man giving the name of James Tweed was turned over to the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon, and later placed in the care of friends for the night. He came here recently from New Mexico, and because of his condition, it is believed an investigation as to his sanity will be asked for.

Tweed was taken into custody as a result of a fright he gave Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Enyart. Mr. Enyart, who is connected with the Crystal Park company, was driving with his wife near the sanatorium, when they were suddenly accosted by Tweed.

His first words, according to the couple, were: "This is death valley and if you go another step you will die." Then he reiterated the statement and added, as he pointed to one side of the road: "There are four corpses of men who like yourself would not listen to me."

Mr. and Mrs. Enyart, after talking with the man for a short time, drove in a roundabout way to the sanatorium, and attendants were sent out and brought the man in. Dr. J. E. White, who examined the man, found that he was nearly famished, and he seemed to be possessed with the idea that dead people were lying all around him. He told the physician and Enyart that he had a "death's head," and that he knew he would die soon. He also predicted many serious things in store for his captors.

Mrs. Enyart was particularly shocked by the experience, and almost fainted when Tweed advanced toward the buggy, fearing that he intended to do bodily harm to them.

TAFT'S MEDIATION IN HONDURAS EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The foundation of the action of the American naval forces in landing at Puerto Cortez, in Honduras, and in undertaking to intervene between the government forces and the insurrectionists to bring about a settlement of the difficulty in that country without further bloodshed, was had today when the state department made public the text of telegrams recently exchanged between President Taft and President Davilla of Honduras.

From these it appears that in seeking to restore peace between the warring factions in Honduras, President Taft is conforming to the wishes of President Davilla.

The President also recently telegraphed Commander Cooper of the Marietta, at Puerto Cortez, through the navy department, that he should not permit any fighting in Puerto Cortez, as it was an unfortified town, where there were large American and foreign interests that might be injured.

Captain Cooper also was authorized to communicate with the leaders of General Bonilla's forces to arrange, if possible an armistice, assuring them in that case of the impartial good offices of the United States in offering mediation.

HIGHER PRICES OF FURS

From New York Sun.

While all Yukon furs have brought a higher price during the last few years the difference is shown more with the lynx, mink, and marten. There has been an increased demand for these furs lately, particularly so in the case of the lynx. While in 1903 the highest price paid for lynx was $3, in the present year the highest price was $30.50; in both cases the average price was about the same; even as late as 1908 the highest price was $9.50 and the average price $8.50. On account of the increased values of lynx furs they are not held for any length of time, but are shipped out in small lots in order to realize on them as soon as possible.

PANTCHENKO TRIAL HAS SENSATIONS

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—The trial of Dr. Pantchenko and Count O'Brien DeLassy, who are charged with murder in the poisoning of Count Vassilli Bouterlin, DeLassy's brother-in-law, continued today productive of sensation after sensation.

Testimony was adduced that Pantchenko had several tubes of both diphtheria and cholera germs, which he had represented were required for scientific purposes. He said he had given the tubes of cholera toxin to DeLassy, who had furnished the money with which he made the journey to Kronstadt to get them. The diphtherial toxin, he said, he had thrown away.

A commission of medical experts testified that Bouterlin's death was due to poison and that the poison could have been diptherial toxin. Throughout the report of the experts Pantchenko's face lost color and he fidgeted nervously as he watched them. The prisoner's agitation heightened when the prosecutor announced the result of the medical evidence.

In addressing the presiding judge the prosecutor said:

"Pantchenko during the trial postponed the examination until the tests of the medical experts had been concluded. Perhaps Pantchenko now will find it possible to answer the question whether he injected diphtherial toxin into Count Bouterlin."

All eyes in the court room became focused on Pantchenko, who slowly rose from his seat and stood silent for several moments plucking his patriarchal beard with trembling fingers.

Finally he clasped both hands to his forehead and answered in a hollow voice:

"I don't want to."

WILL ATTACK

it has been during the last four weeks. The only difference is that the insurgents who were in possession of the Guerrero district having been defeated, have moved north.

"After being defeated at Guerrero they abandoned that district and went to Galanea, where they were defeated by Colonel Rabago and Colonel Escudaro. Knowing that more federal troops were on their way to capture them, they have now moved to the neighborhood of Juarez with two main objects—to get reinforcements of men, arms and ammunitions from Mexicans on the frontier of Texas, and to cross the line into the United States territory in case of defeat in Ciudad Juarez. They also went there to protect more easily the lives of the leaders of the insurrection.

"To prevent the reinforcement of federal soldiers from the city of Chihuahua and the Galanea districts the insurrectos destroyed several bridges with dynamite on the Mexican Central railroad.

"Other bridges on the Mexican Northwestern between Ciudad Juarez and Pearson station were also destroyed. The destruction of these bridges will delay the movement of soldiers but they are proceeding as rapidly as possible toward Juarez and will reach there soon.

Can Hold City.

"The commander of the troops at Juarez has notified the government that he is confident that he will be able to offer successful resistance to the insurrectos until relief arrives. If the rebels should happen to capture Ciudad Juarez, it will be only a few days before the city is retaken by government troops which are already on the way in sufficient numbers to defeat them.

"The number of rebels operating in different groups in the state of Chihuahua does not exceed 1,200, while the federal troops there aggregate more than 7,000 men.

"The reason why the insurrectos have not yet been controlled by the troops is because in the last four weeks they have been running from one place to another making use of the best horses which they have stolen from various haciendas, but it is only a matter of time when the plans of the secretary of war will develop in such a way as to make it impossible for the rebels to remain much longer in the state of Chihuahua.

"In the other states there have been no other uprisings within the last few weeks. The government has the entire situation well in hand and feels confident of early success in Chihuahua.

"The United States government is thoroughly informed as to this present movement and has made in a frank and friendly spirit, both the ambassadors, D. La Barra and Joaquin Casasus, offers of taking very energetic action, necessary to enforce the neutrality laws along the frontier, to punish any one violating them and to prevent the smuggling of arms and ammunition into Mexico.

"For this purpose, and that the policy of the United States should be made known to the world, American troops have been located along the border from Brownsville, Tex., to California. The Mexican government has full confidence in the friendly action of the United States.

"The Mexican government has not asked the United States to send troops into Mexican territory. We will take every precaution to protect foreign interests at every point in the republic. It will not be necessary for American soldiers to go across the river to Ciudad Juarez, and I am very sure this will not be done."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The acute revolutionary situation in northern Mexico today moved the American government to hurry 12 additional troops of cavalry to the frontier to preserve the neutrality of the United States. The American military forces will prevent the movement of revolutionary bands from this country into Mexico, and also will prohibit defeated rebels with arms from seeking refuge in the United States.

This action was based upon strong representations from the Mexican government that armed bands of revolutionists have crossed the Rio Grande from Mexico, entering the United States to make their way undisturbed through American territory and then re-entering Mexico.

The United States has assured Mexico that every means will be adopted

Miss Margaret Rogers, daughter of former Mayor Platt Rogers of Denver, who recently became the third wife of Lawrence C. Phipps, the millionaire steel manufacturer of Pittsburg and Denver.

Mr. Phipps gained countrywide notoriety in 1904, when he kidnaped his two little daughters, Dorothy and Helen, from a New York hotel, where they were staying with his divorced wife, Genevieve Chandler, and held them for weeks in defiance of the law. The matter was finally patched up and the children were returned to their mother with the understanding that he was to share in their custody.

The little girls, though residing with their mother, attended the wedding of their father and Miss Rogers. Mr. Phipps has two other children by his first wife, who died some years ago. The Phipps are now in California on their honeymoon.

to prevent violation of a neutral attitude on the part of the Americans.

Orders for the dispatch of troops were issued by the war department today. Of the 12 companies four will be sent from the Presidio, California; six from Fort Meade, S. D., and two from Fort Wingate, N. M. This will make the total military strength along the frontier 22 troops of cavalry, or about 1,500 men.

In view of the critical situation at Ciudad Juarez, across the line from El Paso, four troops of the additional cavalry forces will camp at El Paso.

It is understood the Mexican government is contemplating asking the United States for permission to bring Mexican troops from Sonora, Mexico, over American territory into Ciudad Juarez. The request has not taken definite form, but if it is made, it is believed the theory will be advanced by Mexico that the neutrality of the United States will not be violated by favorable action, as the belligerency of the revolutionists has not been recognized by this government.

CALEXICO, Cal., Feb. 3.—The force of Mexican rebels which a few days ago captured the town of Mexicali, just across the border from this place, is reported today to be divided into two camps, awaiting the approach of Mexican government troops now marching eastward from Tia Juna. One of the camps is located near Laguna Salada, a mountain pass through which the federals must march. The rebels are watching this pass closely in the hope, it is believed, of being able to ambush the government column. The second rebel camp is located about 10 miles southwest of Mexicali.

A small party of insurgents crossed the line into the United States last Saturday night and camped at the base of Signal mountain. Yesterday six insurgents came into Mexicali and purchased some supplies, leaving receipts from the insurgent army. Only one train has run over the Inter-California railroad since the taking of Mexicali and it pulled through on to United States soil before stopping.

The American troops from Fort Rosecrans are still in possession of Calexico and all is quiet here.

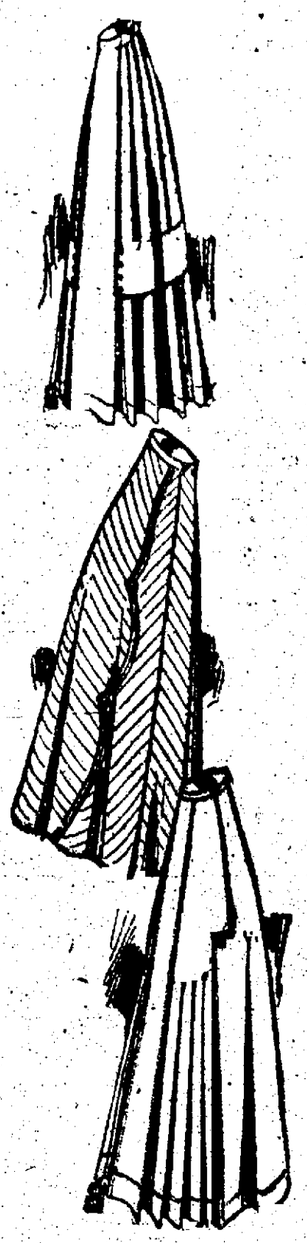

A desultory discussion has taken place here about the possibility of the organization of a corps of Americans to March into lower California and declare the establishment of "the free and independent state of lower California." Many soldiers of fortune in the southwest, it is said, would join such a movement.

PEARY PROMOTION BILL IS HELD UP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Consideration of the Senate bill promoting Captain Robert E. Peary to be a rear admiral in the navy was indefinitely postponed in the House today because of the illness of Representative Bates of Pennsylvania, who has the measure in charge. When the bill was passed over on the private calendar, Representative Mann of Illinois served notice that the matter "in all human probability" would not be reached again this session.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 3.—It cost United States Senator-elect George P. McLean, $14,541.51 to be elected to the senate by the general assembly on January 18, according to a statement filed with the secretary of state as required by the election laws.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The Chicago American team will start for Mineral Wells, Texas, on its training expedition on February 27, one day sooner than originally proposed.

Football Surgeons Make More Changes for Season of 1911

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Intercollegiate Football Rules committee did a little more surgery on the game at a meeting in New York today.

With E. K. Hall of Dartmouth as chairman and Walter Camp as secretary, the committee decided that intermissions were too long, and reduced the periods between the first and second and the third and fourth quarters from three minutes to two minutes.

A rule was adopted permitting the teams by agreement to transfer the supervision of offside play upon the line of scrimmage from umpire to head linesman. The linesman, however, is to report any infraction to the umpire.

Another new line provides that throwing a player to the ground after the referee has declared the ball dead may be considered unnecessary roughness. An amendment was adopted allowing only three men to walk up and down the field on each side of the line. The present rule allows five.

If the ball accidentally strikes an official, provides another amendment, it shall not become dead, but play shall continue.

A new rule specifies that all penalties under the rule regulating the forward pass shall be applied from the spot of the down and not on the spot from which the pass was made.

The committee transferred the duty of keeping time from the field judge to the umpire, and in rule 13, section 2, which provides that a player in catching a pass shall not be tackled or shouldered until he has caught the ball and "taken more than one step in any direction," the words, "taken more than one step in any direction," were stricken out. After the conference, Mr. Hall said:

"The reason the committee made so few changes is that we feel the game has accomplished what the new rules started out to do—the elimination of serious injuries and that it is now a safe and playable game. It seemed unwise to make any changes with a game that worked pretty well, after the coaches and players got the understanding of it, and we are reasonably certain in light of further experience whether any changes are necessary, and what the changes should be."

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3.—Chicago came dangerously near losing its lead in the individual events of the American Bowling congress tournament today when Melvin C. Knox, a veteran Indianapolis bowler, dropped 670 pins and landed in second place in the list of leaders. Knox, who is 55 years old, fell 11 pins short of James Blouin's record of 681.

High scores in the doubles went to William Carey and Frank Hehr of Chicago, who rolled 1,190.

Basketball Games

The Y. M. C. A. Reds won from the Boys club basketball team last night by a score of 60 to 19. The game was played on the Boys club floor. Team work and the ability of the Y. M. C. A. lads to throw baskets won for them easily. Lineup: Reds—House and Dickey, forwards; Young, center; Taylor, Holman and Woods, guards. Boys club—Long and Stanley, forwards; Blood, center; James and Rodney, guards.

Judson Williams, one of the best basketball guards in the state, was yesterday elected captain of the High School team, succeeding Altman, who resigned after being barred because he refused to give up his fraternity, the S. S. R. society. The lineup for the High School's game with South Canon City, to be played at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, is not given out.

AT JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 3.—Today's card at Moncrief brought together horses of the poorer class, five of the races being selling affairs. Leamance won the fourth at a mile and a sixteenth, defeating Hoffman by two lengths. In the third race, Dearie unseated her rider at the start, but outfooted her field, finishing a length in front of Definite, the favorite, to whom the race was given.

India now ranks next to the United States as a cotton-producing nation.

MARSHALL RETAINS U. S. CHESS TITLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—By half a point, Frank J. Marshall, who was already champion of the United States, today won the National Chess Masters tournament which has been in progress two weeks.

His final game was drawn with Kreymborg, making his score 10 points out of a possible 12, or eight wins and four draws in the tournament. He did not lose a game.

The magnificent finish by the Cuban champion, Joseph R. Capablanca, reduced Marshall's margin to half a point. By winning from Paul Johner, the Cuban finished in second place. In the last seven rounds the Cuban has scored seven wins.

NEWPORT RETAINED AS TOURNEY FIELD

NEW WYORK, Feb. 3.—Newport, R. I., was retained as the national tournament field by the United States National Lawn Tennis association tonight. The insurgents who sought to have the tournament transferred to Philadelphia were defeated by a vote of 85 to 60.

The principal officers of the association were re-elected, Dr. James Dwight of Boston becoming president for the twentieth time.

Delegates from all sections of the country attended and more than 100 clubs and associations were represented.

JUAREZ, Feb. 3.—Tonight racing officials at Terrazes park announced the entries for tomorrow. The understanding is that if conditions are not favorable to run the program, it will be called off as was that of today.

AT TAMPA

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 3.—Sharpshooters played havoc with form this afternoon when they kept clear of favorites and picked the winners from among those held at long prices. Nearly every winner was heavily played and not a favorite finished first.

HACK PUTS IT OVER AMERICUS

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—George Hackenschmidt, the Russian wrestler, won from Gus Schoenlein (American) in straight falls here tonight. The first fall came in 1 hour 20 minutes 20 seconds, and the second fall in 38 minutes 15 seconds.

Both falls were obtained with body holds.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Belief that the National Lawn Tennis championships would be played this year at Newport, as usual was expressed by many of the tennis experts here for the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight.

ASK WALSH TO GET OUT OF THE FIGHT

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 3.—Contrary to all expectations the Democratic committee at its meeting this afternoon virtually asked T. J. Walsh to withdraw from the senatorial race in the interest of party harmony. After a three hours' session behind closed doors, the state committee adopted a resolution asking the Democratic members of the joint assembly "to get together in conference and agree upon a man for whom they can all vote, a result of infinitely more importance to the Democratic party and to the state at large than the gratification of the ambition or the recognition of claims, however meritorious they may be, of any individual Democrat."

The resolution as originally presented asked the Democrats to get into caucus with a view of nominating Mr. Walsh, but after a spirited fight, it was amended as shown above.

Today's vote was barren of results.

EXTENSION HOMESEEKERS' RATES GIVEN AT HEARING

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—An extension of the period in which special railroad rates will be allowed homeseekers in the northwest was voted at the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger association, at which all transcontinental lines were represented. The question of special convention rates will be reached tomorrow.

The homeseekers' rate heretofore effective to north Pacific coast points and intermediate territory twice monthly in January, February and March, was extended to include the entire year.

Says the Orozcos Are Really Bright and Remarkable Men

EL PASO, Feb. 3.—Thrown in contact with Orozco during the four days in which the Mexican Central trains were in the possession of the insurrecto chief, Burton Smith, a well-known author and playwright, tonight gave his impressions of the rebel chief.

Smith was granted an audience with Orozco in a stateroom aboard the train, and was authorized by him to tell anything which he had seen or heard while with the command, providing it was told exactly as he heard and saw it.

According to Smith's story, the younger Orozco, who shares the command equally with his father, is a most remarkable man, and displays the fact in many ways. He is said to be the most conservative and to hardly ever utter an unnecessary word. When asked a question he will study for a moment and then give answer in short, sharp sentences, which ring with confidence in his judgment.

At all times he is mixing freely with the men, but rarely talks unless questioned. A Mauser rifle, which he carried, never leaves his hand, and when he sleeps it is with his fingers clutched about the stock of the gun. He never hesitates to aid the men to perform any kind of work, and is always present where there is the most danger.

"When we first arrived at Moctezuma, last Monday," said Smith, "we were greatly surprised to hear shouts of 'Viva Madero!' issuing from hundreds of throats. Many of the passengers thought that the insurrectos would open fire on the train, but we were assured that all was safe when the men entered the coaches and the officers were heard to caution them several times to be careful and not shoot.

"In the Pullman cars the insurrectos unbuttoned the berth curtains, striking matches each time so as to be able to detect the nationality of the occupants. An assurance that the occupant was an American was sufficient to cause the men to pass on after fastening the curtains again.

"Pasqual Orozco, the chief, accompanied the men through the entire train, quieting the fears of the passengers and searching for government men whom he believed were aboard. It was he who gave money to Mexican women whose husbands were detained when the train was finally released, and it was he who paid for everything which was obtained from small stores along the line."

Health and Marine Hospital Service May Go to China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Plans have been made to put the public health and marine hospital service in the field in China to stamp out the plague, if the Chinese government requests it.

It was learned today that informal exchanges on the seriousness of the situation have been made between representatives of some of the European powers, and the possibility has been discussed of having the Marine Hospital service join with the army medical forces for the European nations having spheres of influence in China.

The situation in China is not regarded as offering any more difficulties than were met and overcome when the service cleaned Cuba and stamped yellow fever out of New Orleans.

JURY DECIDES AGAINST WOMAN IN WILL CASE

SEATTLE, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Minnie R. Williams, divorced wife of John Williams, deceased, an Alaska mining man, was brought from the county jail today as defendant in a suit instituted by Luella Roat, for $25,000 for alienation of the affections of her husband, W. E. Roat, to whom she was married at Glenwood Springs, Colo., in 1901.

John Williams was killed in Alaska in 1909 by a snowslide. His wife had secretly obtained a divorce from him a year previously and he lived with her after the divorce in ignorance of it, according to the four brothers and sister of Williams, all of whom live in Tillamook, Ore. The brothers and sister contested the alleged will of Williams, filed by the divorced wife, which gave his $25,000 estate to her, and last night the jury found against the woman.

As soon as the verdict was returned, Judge Wilson R. Gay ordered the arrest of Mrs. Williams and her witnesses to the alleged will, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graham, charging them with forgery and perjury.

Mrs. Williams has been thrice divorced.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 3.—At the offices of the Dupont Powder company in this city today it was said the lighter Katherine W., one of the two boats wrecked in the explosion in New York harbor on Wednesday, contained 15,000 pounds of dynamite and 10,000 pounds of black powder, or more than 10 tons in all.

JOSEF HOFMANN GIVES A WONDERFUL RECITAL

Great Pianist Reveals New Powers. Absolute Lack of Mannerism a Pleasing Feature.

By J. R. H.

Josef Hofmann, pianist, gave a recital at the Opera House last night under the auspices of the Colorado Springs Musical club. It was a wonderful performance, inspiring because of its simplicity, compelling because of the control displayed, technical and mental, of the instrument, and pleasing because of the entire absence of ostentatious affectation and jarring mannerisms. Since his last concert in this city, three years ago this month, Hofmann seems to have grown in his mastery of the resources of the piano, though at that time he seemed to have reached his highest possible point of achievement. His technic has developed into virtuosity; his handling of his marvelous mechanical powers to convey his conceptions of the compositions played, has grown into a command that calls forth only the greatest admiration; his intelligence, always keen, has deepened and his imagination has deepened, seeing new riches in the works of old and new composers. Hofmann has matured into an indisputable genius, a genius who ranks among the foremost pianists of this age, perhaps of all ages. Comparisons are as useless as they are profitless. Hofmann is Hofmann. Greatness lies in exceptional individuality perfected.

Nature and Technic Combined.

Possessing rare imagination, a fanciful mind, fine intelligence, deep sympathy with life, and an understanding of elemental emotions, human feeling and primitive passion, Hofmann combines with these natural gifts a technic that is truly tremendous. One is amazed at his powers, subdued as they are in the interpretation of the meanings of the works played. Of course, technic must always be the means toward the end, but one may well pause to admire the foundations of beautiful architectures, whether material buildings or poetic productions of the soul. One of Hofmann's most notable achievements is his power of diminuendo and crescendo. As with the singer and her mezzo-voce, so with the pianist are these increases and decreases of tonal volume one of the most difficult of mechanical feats to bring to perfection. Hofmann makes his swells come and go like the wind, with no perceptible or ragged rise in power, but with the effect complete and perfect. The way in which he uses his ability is but another proof of his genius. In Scriabine's "Poeme" this effect was made use of with most beautiful results. Hofmann's phrasing is delicately done. Each note is given its value. Nothing is left indistinct. His clarity of tone production is one of his chief charms.

Beethoven March Inspiring.

The Beethoven group gave Hofmann some of his finest opportunities. He brought out the rich solidness of the melody in the Beethoven sonata, the first theme singing exquisitely to an accompaniment of indescribable mellowness. His interpretation of the Beethoven march was magnificent. Commencing as if afar off, so soft that the audience did not realize he had begun, and hence he was compelled to start over again, the march is gradually increased in volume until a thrilling climax is reached, a great blaze of triumph, such as Beethoven must have imagined when he wrote this grand but tragic theme on the Ruin of Athens. Then the music died out as it had commenced.

In the Chopin numbers, Hofmann's fancy had full play. His playing of the nocture was a tone poem. Chopin's plaintive plea, perhaps of love, perhaps of the mournful, dead hopes of the defeated Poles, brought out some coloring of rare moving power. Here again the accompaniment was delicately subdued. The Schumann Carneval was brilliant. Technically, it was a masterpiece of light and shade. The laughing, dancing and care-free spirit of Vienna in holiday attire were all there, and with these light moods were contrasted those somber, tearful, deep ponderings on life and eternity which crop out, even in the happiest moments, only to be dispelled a few moments later by the frivolous gayety of a great city in playful mood. A new prelude by Rachmaninoff seems, on first hearing, to be one of the best things this Russian has done. It has a definite idea to which Hofmann did full justice. In the Tschaikowsky-Pabst paraphrase from "Eugene Onegin," the fine waltz theme, the best in the opera, was given with splendid rhythm.

ENGINEER STEWART

he shouted as he covered each man with an automatic.

Stewart brought the train to a stop with his engine a few feet from the draw and at the holdup's command both jumped to the ground. Stewart fell and rolled a few feet down the embankment, and as he did so his hand closed over a rock.

"Back to the express car," ordered the highwayman, "and open the door. No tricks or I'll shoot!" At the door the fireman took a desperate chance and dived headlong under the car. The holdup stooped, fired twice, and in that instant Stewart hurled the rock. Once more the bandit fired before the lump of granite crashed against his head. The robber dropped, and Stewart fell with a bullet in his thigh.

The next moment the fireman, who had summoned assistance from the other side of the train, raced up with other members of the train crew, but the bandit was dead. Stewart was lifted into his seat and brought No. 3 into Colorado Springs. Then he was taken to the hospital, where his wound was dressed. The dead bandit was left lying where he had fallen until daylight, when the authorities took the body in charge. It was never identified.

Stewart carries a gun now—the one with which he was shot on September 1.

All 12 were released in 1908, as the evidence seemed to prove that they had no connection with the crime. Later, however, they were rearrested together with 40 other criminals. The trial of these men, who are now locked up at the little town of Viterbo, a few miles from Rome, will be held in a few days. It is reported that a worldwide fund has been collected by the organization to secure the freedom of the criminals. The defense has 84 lawyers and the utmost influence will be brought to bear on the attempt to defeat the government's fight for justice.

ity, "a fact, which," he said, "invalidated his election."

This was equally true, he said, whether the corruption fund had been used either to increase Lorimer's vote or to reduce the total vote. The conclusion of Mr. Root's speech was marked by an unusual scene.

The New York senator held the undivided attention of his colleagues as he discussed the report of the committee on privileges and elections by which Mr. Lorimer was exonerated.

Mr. Root's position had been a question of much speculation and so high is the esteem in which his opinion is held that it is known some members of the Senate have held in abeyance their opinions until they could hear from him.

Analyzes Testimony.

In the main his address consisted of a careful analysis of the testimony taken by the committee, the argument was almost entirely legal. Mr. Root lost little time in indicating the conclusion he had reached, which was entirely antagonistic to Mr. Lorimer.

He took the position that the investigation committee had been at fault in permitting either the attorney for Mr. Lorimer or the attorney for the Chicago Tribune to direct its course in the matter of connecting Mr. Lorimer with the corruption of members of the Illinois legislature, but agreed that even in the face of its fault in this respect the committee had obtained sufficient evidence effectually to taint and invalidate the election. Not only did the senator differ as to the conclusions but as to the methods of the Senate committee. He did not believe that organization had properly interpreted the scope of its instructions, but felt that it had gone too far in interpreting the charges as a private complaint by the Chicago Tribune.

The committee should, he thought, have borne in mind that the reputation, the honor, the purity and the authority of the Senate were involved.

"When," he asked earnestly, "did we intrust the guardianship of our honor and integrity to any newspaper or any man? It was the duty of the committee to investigate whether corrupt methods and practices had been resorted to by the Senate and not decide whether the Tribune had established a case."

One effect of the committee's course had been to create the feeling that this was a persecution rather than a prosecution and the speaker himself confessed to sharing the view that the work was not one in which a newspaper might properly engage.

"This case is not the case of the Tribune; it is the case of this government, it is the government of the United States that is involved," he said.

Mr. Hale of Maine took the floor and pleaded for a reply to the New York senator's speech, saying that the Senate could not be comfortable while Mr. Root was making his "powerful argument," and confirming the belief that he himself had not been. He said he had been impressed with the seriousness of the situation.

Mr. Bailey said that if Mr. Root's doctrine was to be followed, it would be found that there had not been a lawful election in Illinois in many years. Defending the recommendations of the committee, Mr. Heyburn of Idaho, one of its members, charged the fight upon Mr. Lorimer to the muckraking and sensational methods of newspapers.

The great mystery of the murder of Miss Elsie Sigel, whose picture is shown above, granddaughter of the famous General Franz Sigel, in June, 1909, in New York, may soon be solved as a result of the finding of documentary evidence during the recent raids by the federal authorities upon several opium establishments in New York. Miss Sigel's body was found stuffed in a trunk in a Chinese restaurant on Eighth avenue. The deed was committed, it is believed, by a Chinaman named Leon Ling, who made his escape and has never been captured. The exact nature of the documentary evidence relating to the famous murder case has not been revealed, but it is said that it reveals some interesting facts concerning the manner in which the suspected assassin made his escape.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3. Fire of unknown origin early today damaged the piers of the Baltimore Steam Packet company (Old Bay line), on the light street wharf, to the extent of $50,000, fully covered by insurance. The entire superstructure offices and the big tower was destroyed.

RECIPROCITY STRIKES ROCKS IN CANADA

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 3.—The introduction in the provincial parliament of a resolution by Deputy Speaker W. P. Hayward, conservative, protesting against the proposed reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada, provoked a hot debate today.

Mr. Hayward, in speaking for his resolution, declared that free fruit from the United States would be the deathblow of the fruit industry in British Columbia, which they were trying so hard to build up.

COLLECTING DEBT BY DYNAMITE

From le Figaro.

By the explosion of a dynamite cartridge at the airhole of a cellar in M. Messan's house at Saint Rambert-sur-Loire only material damage was done, but M. Messan, who is paralyzed, was so frightened that he swooned for a long time and complications are feared.

It is alleged that the cartridge was placed by a building contractor who had been refused payment on account of work done. M. Pansier, the contractor, has been arrested.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—After sixteen hours of the worst blizzard, Montreal has experienced in a decade the skies cleared this morning and there was a prospect that before night the railroads and street car companies would be able to clear their main lines.

GREELEY CELEBRATES EDITOR'S CENTENARY

GREELEY, Feb. 3.—The centenary of Horace Greeley, the famous editor of the New York Tribune, was celebrated here today. It was Horace Greeley who inspired the colonists that founded this city in the spring of 1870.

Exercises at all the public schools and many dinner parties and other gatherings of pioneers were held today.

A mass meeting was held in the Methodist church tonight, at which Justice James Garrigues of the state supreme court, who occupied the district bench here for many years, was the principal speaker.

At the meeting tonight Ralph Meeker, son of N. C. Meeker, who was Horace Greeley's right-hand man in establishing this city, read a paper. Mr. Meeker is now connected with a New York newspaper in an editorial capacity.

Surviving members of the Union colony, the first settlers in Greeley, who came here in 1870, made addresses to the school children, in which they gave personal reminiscences of the early days in Greeley and character sketches of Mr. Greeley and his assistant editor, M. C. Meeker, who was father of the colony.

The program in the church in the evening consisted of an address by Supreme Justice James E. Garrigues, the reading of a paper of anecdotes about Horace Greeley, which had been prepared by Ralph Meeker, son of M. C. Meeker, who is now one of the editors of the New York Herald.

Horace Greeley is frequently miscalled the founder of Greeley. It is true that his clarion call, "Go west, young man," had a wide influence in settling Kansas and Colorado, but to M. C. Meeker, agricultural editor of the Tribune, may belong a large part of the credit in bringing the original colonists west.

Through his paper Greeley called for honest, sturdy and temperate men of the east to join in founding a colony, the land for which he had already selected during his two trips by stage through this section of the country.

Greeley was the treasurer of the colony, but did not live here. Soon after it was established and seemed assured of a future he died, following the death of his wife and his defeat for the presidency of the United States.

Amherst Celebrates.

AMHERST, N. H., Feb. 3.—The centenary of the birth of Horace Greeley, the widely known editor of half a century ago and founder of the New York Tribune, was celebrated in this, his birth place, today. The staid old town of Amherst made much of the occasion and welcomed a host of guests who participated in memorial exercises and made pilgrimages to the rough, unpainted farm house still standing in the midst of rocky fields, in the eastern part of the town where Greeley first saw the light and where he passed his first 10 years.

This house today unchanged was reputed in his day to have been the den of a gang of revolutionary counterfeiters.

Many Editors Present.

While local authorities had the celebration in charge, under the chairmanship of Rev. C. S. White, pastor of the Congregational church, many newspaper men, editors and writers from various parts of the country were present and they contributed largely to the program of celebration. The exercises were held in the town hall, where the address of the day was delivered by Albert E. Pillsbury of Boston, former attorney general of Massachusetts. Mr. Pillsbury was the first to mark appropriately with a tablet the birth place of Greeley.

Tardy official memorial has been provided for within the last two days by a vote of the state legislature.

Various reminders of Greeley in the form of letters and papers were produced at the exercises from which abstracts of an interesting nature were read.

ARMY OF WESTERN MEXICAN INSURRECTOS ADVANCING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 3.—Thoroughly armed and with two additional rifles and ammunition, 150 Mexican revolutionists, said to be in command of an American, left Tegarte yesterday, headed for Ocampo, near which point they passed the night. They are expected to be within striking distance of Tia Juana late today.

Marching westward, another party of about the same number passed the night at Jacumba in the Jacumba valley. It is believed the two bodies will effect a junction.

The latter force is said to be that which participated in the capture of Mexicana a few days ago.

That the Mexican federal authorities expect an attack on Tia Juana is shown by the fact that 120 soldiers from Ensenada, under command of Gov. Celso Vaga, are on the way to the border town, making forced marches. They camped last night on the Dupee ranch within a days march of the point of attack.

When the troops under command of Governor Vega arrived at Tia Juana, they will bring the defensive force up to about 300 men.

OIL AND GAS LANDS BILL FAVORABLY REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Smith California oil bill to protect the locators in good faith of oil and gas lands who shall have effected an actual discovery of oil or gas on the public lands, was ordered favorably reported to the House by the public lands commission today.

Mr. Robinson of Arkansas secured the adoption of an amendment providing that where the discovery of oil was made after the transfer of the original entryman or locator, the grantee can only take 20 acres and not 160.

The bill is an outgrowth of protests against the decision of the interior department as to transfer of interests in claims. Under this ruling, it is said, millions of dollars worth of mining property has been held.

HONOLULU, Feb. 3.—Alfred Stedman Hartwell, chief justice of the supreme court of Hawaii, resigned today. Judge Hartwell went to Hawaii in 1888.

IN THE HOME OF INTENSE FARMING

Scientific Farming in Holland Produces Splendid Results.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Some results of intensive farming in Holland are brought out in a report made to the Department of Commerce and Labor by Frank W. Mahin, United States consul at Amsterdam, who says:

"Fertilizers are now extensively used in this district. Stable manure was used at first, but in the present intensive farming chemical products are chiefly employed. Their use has caused a remarkable transformation in Dutch agriculture. Land which once produced sparsely now yields abundant crops. Chemicals for fertilizing purposes are imported, but a superphosphate factory has been established in Amsterdam which supplies much of the demand.

"A feature of the intensive agriculture is the multiplication of small dairy farms, which, by their ready consumption of grain and fodder, are valuable customers of other farmers. The increase of vegetable products is another result of intensive farming. These are found to be especially profitable in sandy soil, some of which, without scientific fertilizing, would be almost worthless. Larger farms are still practicable, mainly in clay soil districts, but even there the cultivation is concentrated and intensive.

"Cattle abound, especially in the rich low lands of Friesland, Utrecht, and north and south Holland, where they are pastured the greater part of the year. The total number of cattle in the kingdom is estimated at nearly 2 million, more than half of which are milch cows. They are tenderly cared for, being blanketed in damp or cold weather in the pastures. As a matter of course, milk is good, plentiful and cheap (4 cents a quart at retail), and is a universal beverage; more so, perhaps, than in any other country.

Aided by Government.

"The latest calculation gives the total annual butter and cheese product of Holland as 143 million and 176 million pounds, respectively. Of the butter, one-third is made on farms, the rest in the factories. Friesland is the great butter province, north Holland is predominant in cheese.

"The present farming method is profitable for either renter or owner. It is noteworthy that a majority of the Dutch farmers are now renters, the proportion of renters to owners, in the whole country being given as 57 and 43 per cent, respectively. The proportion in this district, however, varies greatly in different provinces.

"For instance, in Groningen 75 per cent of the soil is farmed by its owners, whereas in Friesland 65 per cent is tilled by renters. These variations result from historical circumstances or character of the soil. The percentage of renters has increased for several years. The explanation given is that intensive farming requires more working capital than the old methods, and that the owner, averse to risking this, prefers to take the high rent assured him by letting his land.

"This condition has led to increased attention on the part of the government to insure success to the renter. Notwithstanding its dense population, this part of the Netherlands produces much more than it consumes of many kinds of farm products."

PUTTING TOGETHER SKELETONS OF ANIMALS

From the Washington Star.

Putting together five skeletons of animals is not an easy job. And when each animal has approximately 200 odd bones, and there are nearly 2,000 different bones in the collection the job becomes all the more difficult and tedious. And yet this is what is being done at the Smithsonian Institution at the present time. The animal is a short-limbed rhinoceros, believed to have lived about 250,000 years ago. Out of the collection of bones which the institution possesses one skeleton is to be put together for exhibition purposes, while three or four more will be made up to exchange with other museums. And in addition a large number of feet of which the collection can boast will also be made up for exchange purposes.

These bones are all sizes, from those no bigger than a postage stamp to some which weigh several pounds. In putting them together only the best will be used, while the whole collection of bones of a particular kind has to be gone over to be sure that the one chosen fits the most perfectly. At the present time the feet and other portions already fitted are being kept together by the aid of nothing more pretentious than rubber bands. When the entire first specimen is complete, however, it will be taken to the laboratory and carefully mounted.

These bones were found in 1884-5 near Long Island, Phillips county, Kan., by the late J. B. Hatcher, one of the best known fossil collectors in the west. They were the first of several collections of bones found there, the American Museum of Natural History in New York having a skeleton on exhibition taken from the same quarry. The place from which the bones were obtained is called a quarry, but is in reality a bed of sand. The bones were found in great numbers for about two feet, but were entirely dismembered. In many cases they lay on top of each other, and in a state of disorder generally.

It is for this reason that the task of assembling a specimen is so difficult. The bones of no one animal were all together, and so every effort is being made to find them in the heap which belongs to the institution.

The preparations that are being made for the wedding indicate that the ceremony will be one of the most gorgeous ever held on this side of the Atlantic. Lord Decies is 24 years the senior of Miss Gould.

BLOOD DISEASES CONTAGIOUS TROUBLES

Contagious Blood Poison more thoroughly permeates the system than any other disease. Its infectious virus contaminates every corpuscle and tissue of the circulation, and for this reason its symptoms are of a varied nature. When it enters the blood it is but a short time until the mouth and throat begin to ulcerate, the skin becomes spotted, rashes and eruptions appear on the body, sores and ulcers break out, the hair falls, and frequently nails on hands and feet thicken and come off. Mineral medicines which simply shut the poison up in the system should be avoided, for when such treatment is left off the old disease will break out again, often worse than before. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison permanently, and it does so because it thoroughly purifies the blood. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and drives out the last trace of the destructive germs, adds richness and vigor to the circulation and allows it to nourish the diseased portions of the body back to health. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, without a particle of mineral, and its vegetable ingredients always hasten the cure by toning up the stomach and digestive members. ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Norman Sturgis, Son of Dean and Mrs. W. C. Sturgis of This City, to Wed Boston Girl.

The engagement of Norman Sturgis, son of Dean and Mrs. W. C. Sturgis of this city, to Miss Harriet Woods, a prominent society girl of Boston, was announced in the latter city yesterday. Young Sturgis will graduate from Harvard in June, and it is probable that the wedding will take place soon after.

Miss Woods is the daughter of Julian Woods, a wholesale dry goods merchant. No definite arrangements for the marriage have been made.

Young Sturgis is well known in Colorado Springs, having lived here a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sturgis are prominent in Colorado Springs social and musical circles. The father is dean of the Colorado Forestry school at Colorado College.

TO BRING EXHIBIT HERE

Rock Island Railway Company Has Collected Many Grains and Grasses Raised in Colorado.

An exhibit of grains and grasses which is attracting considerable attention in Denver, and which will be brought to Colorado Springs for the Dry Farming congress, is one collected by the Rock Island railroad.

This exhibit is a booth in the shape of an Italian pergola, with a railing of glass tubes containing the many different grains raised along Rock Island lines in eastern Colorado. At the top of the booth immense electric signs have been placed, one of which changes automatically every few seconds. In addition to grain exhibits shown, there are many other interesting agricultural products displayed, one of the most attractive being brooms manufactured at Stratton, Colo., from Colorado-grown broom corn.

Large placards, bearing statistics, are also displayed. These statistics cover the total output of the United States. A comparison is then made showing the output of states traversed by Rock Island lines and the proportion contributed by the state of Colorado, which shows up most favorably.

LOCAL WOMEN DEFEND WOMAN SUFFRAGE HERE

Mrs. William Wells Price and several other club women of Colorado Springs have written articles for the Ladies' Home Journal in reply to the recent attack on woman suffrage by Mrs. Elisabeth Cees Goddard of this city, printed in that publication. However, the articles have not been printed. It is said that the contributions have nothing to do with the factional fight which is on in the Woman's club at the present time.

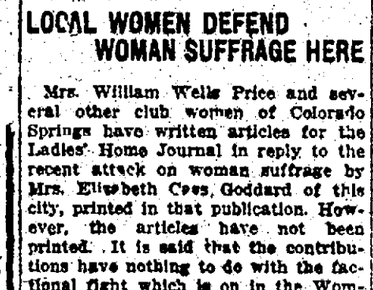

The Colorado Equal Suffrage association of Denver has declared war on the Ladies' Home Journal.

SPECIAL MEETING WOMAN'S CLUB THIS AFTERNOON

A special meeting of the Women's club will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the club rooms, to receive the report of the legislative committee. A formal notice to the effect was issued yesterday by the president, Mrs. Florence M. Stote. According to the notice the committee will be discharged if a majority of the members wish it.

NEW STYLE POST CARDS

Word has been received at the postoffice of a new style post card to be used for library or index use. The card is 3 by 5 inches, and is made to be available in filing cabinets. The Colorado Springs office has not yet received a supply of the cards. The first ones will probably arrive here within a few weeks.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF CITY $1,773,000

According to the annual report of City Auditor H. C. Henderson, presented to the Council yesterday, the bonded indebtedness of the city is $1,733,000. Of the total, water bonds amount to $1,518,000; sewer bonds, $57,000; city hall bonds, $168,000; bridge and viaduct bonds, $30,000. Only a small portion of the bonds are redeemable this year.

During the year 1910 the revenue of the city from all sources amounted to $503,838.09, while the expenditures reached $564,579.96. The excess of expenditures over receipts is largely accounted for by the use of $48,921.95 taken out of the sinking fund to take up bonds and pay interest. Sinking funds are appropriated for each year so that the city in reality can pay out more than it receives in any one year and still be on a good financial basis. There are $7,236.72 worth of delinquent sidewalk warrants outstanding. The warrants are chargeable to the general, cemetery and other funds.

OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE

Brief Telegram From Secretary Burns Regarding Dry Farming Congress Dates and Rates.

Word received yesterday from Secretary John T. Burns of the Dry Farming congress relative to the outcome of the conference with the Transcontinental Passenger association in Chicago indicates that the matter of rates and dates for the congress would be adjusted favorably to the wishes of the executive board. Mr. Burns will return this morning. Just what will be done is not known, as the only information received has been a brief telegram.

NAME COLORED CANDIDATE

Negroes of City, at Mass Meeting, Ask W. H. Green, Former Patrolman, to Run for Commissioner.

At a public meeting of colored voters held Thursday night, W. H. Green, formerly a member of the police force, was decided upon as the meeting's choice to become the colored candidate for city commissioner at the coming spring election.

Green's friends declare that he will be able to swing the colored vote, estimated at about 900, and that with this number as a starter he will be a candidate to be reckoned with at the finish. Green is seriously thinking of announcing himself a candidate.

"I have not yet decided what to do," he said last night, "although friends are anxious for me to declare myself. I will decide the question within the next few days."

WINS FURTHER HONORS AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Albert Ellingwood, the Colorado College graduate who is representing that institution at Oxford university, England, has won further honors there by being allowed to take his work for the B. C. Ellingwood's professors point him out as one of the brightest students ever coming from the United States.

THREE MONTHLY REPORTS

City Treasurer Bartholomew's monthly report, submitted to the Council yesterday, shows a cash balance on hand of $24,305.03 on February 1. On January 1 the city's balance was $6,975.02. During the month $42,140 was taken in and $24,809.94 paid out.

At yesterday's meeting the health department reported $17.50 collected in fees in January. The report of Fire Chief McCartin showed that the department responded to 36 calls, three of which were false alarms. The insurance involved amounted to $47,075, and the insured loss was $2,112.25. The uninsured loss was $535.38.

WILL ATTEND MEETING OF PASSENGER AGENTS

R. S. Torrington, city passenger agent of the Rock Island offices in this city, will attend a meeting of all the passenger representatives of the Rock Island system in Colfax, Ia., March 11. This meeting is on the order of a "family" reunion, and matters of interest to the ticket agents will be discussed. Several hundred representatives will attend. The sessions will be held at the Colfax Springs hotel, one of the largest hostelries in that country.

FIRST ADDRESS TOMORROW

"Selfishness the Cause of Persecution and Crucifixion" is the subject of the first of the series of addresses given by President W. F. Slocum of Colorado College in Bemis hall at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. President Slocum will deliver a series of five addresses on "Spiritual Suggestion From the Passion Play." Special music has been arranged. All friends of the College are welcome.

MANY HEAR KARL LEHMANN

Karl Lehmann, national field secretary of the Christian Endeavor society, addressed a large mass meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies of this city last night at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Lehmann was formerly state field secretary, and is well known here. His address last night was on "Worldwide Endeavor." Before the meeting a complimentary luncheon was given Mr. Lehmann by the Christian Endeavor union.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Lehmann made an urgent apeal for the new $300,000 headquarters building and the Endeavorers pledged over $170 for the fund.

FIRST FREE LECTURE AT COLLEGE FEB. 14

The course of free public lectures given at Colorado College during the winter and spring will begin Tuesday evening, February 14, at Palmer hall. The first will be an illustrated lecture by President W. F. Slocum on "The Passion Play at Oberammergau." Dr. Slocum witnessed the play last summer and brought back a number of excellent lantern slides.

Other lectures will be given as follows: Professor George Howe, on "Myths of the Teutons" and "Religion and Superstition of the Teutons;" Professor Breitwieser, on "Mental Hygiene" and another topic not yet selected; Professor P. T. Coolidge on forestry subjects; Professor George I. Finlay.

Additional scientific lectures on engineering topics will be given by Dean Florian Cajori and Professors Mills and Thomas. An illustrated lecture will also be given by the Rev. W. W. Ranney on "Highways in India."

The subjects and dates for the lectures are not all arranged, but a complete list will be announced in a few days.

STREET DEPARTMENT ACCOMPLISHED MUCH

The annual report of Commissioner A. J. Lawton, presented to the City Council yesterday, contains much interesting data as to the work accomplished during the year 1910 by the street department.

Fifty miles of streets were graded with the graders and 44 additional blocks were graded by means of cuts and fills; nine blocks of streets were oiled; 312 blocks of streets were gravelled on both sides and 17 blocks were gravelled on one side; 19 blocks of alleys were gravelled; 23,104 square feet of cement crosswalks were put in by the department; 154,434 feet of lumber was used in the construction of ditch boxes and repairing ditch boxes already in; 69 distinct jobs of repairing were done on bridges and viaducts, and 42,096 blocks were sprinkled by the wagon sprinklers.

These are some of the general figures in the report. The report also shows that an average of 4½ men a day were employed as street sweepers during the year. In the sprinkling of streets 448 city teams and 459 hired teams, on the rating of each day's work meaning a new team, were used. In sprinkling the 42,096 blocks a total of 29,824,900 gallons of water was spread on the streets to allay the dust. The report estimates the cost at 6¾ cents a block each time the sprinkler goes over the block or, on the basis of two trips a day, the cost would be 13½ cents a block per day, or $49.28 a block for the year. These figures are estimates and only approximately exact.

The oiling of the nine blocks of streets cost $450.71, or an average of 13½ cents a square yard. The cost was reduced by reason of the fact that the 6,000 gallons of oil used were donated to the city for experimental purposes. The oil costs 7 cents a gallon and any further work of this kind will bear the added expense of the cost of the oil.

The department had to spend considerable money during the year for the removing and cutting of trees. This is now in charge of the city forester. The expense account of the department, in addition to the salary roll, includes the following items: Horse feed, $2,944.01; horse shoeing, $479.90; repairs to equipment, $656.37; replacing equipment, $379.06; new equipment, $78.50; cement and lumber for crosswalks, $1,070.26; lumber and other supplies for ditch boxes, $2,775.75; supplies for work on bridges, viaducts and undercrossings, $619.89; office expenses, $67.75; other expenses of operating department, $478.16.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers.

AN IMPROVEMENT BY THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH

Arrangements have been made with the Colorado Telephone company for a free transmission of messages to the Western Union Telegraph company offices from towns where there are no night telegraph offices. No charges for long-distance calls are to be made when the matter concerns a message to be carried over the Western Union wires.

DENVER SPEAKERS COMING

The Rev. C. B. Wilcox of Denver, formerly pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, will speak at a public meeting held by the supporters of the local option law on Monday evening at the First Methodist church. The Rev. Mr. Wilcox is pastor of Trinity church in Denver and prominent in state church circles. The Rev. D. D. Forsythe, formerly of Grand Junction, now of Denver, will also speak.

ADVERTISE MONDAY FOR BIDS ON STORM SEWERS

Commissioner A. J. Lawton and the city engineer's office will advertise for bids for the construction of storm sewers next Monday. The ordinance providing for storm sewers was passed last month, and by Monday bids may be asked for legally. Plans and specifications have been prepared by the engineer's office. The time limit for accepting bids will probably be set for a period of 20 days.

RETURNS WITH BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. David Greenberg, who were married several days ago in Denver, have returned to this city, where they will make their home. Mr. Greenberg is a business man here, being one of the proprietors of a tailoring establishment.

WILL ASK BONDS FOR SEWER IMPROVEMENTS

In order to provide funds for additional sewer construction the City Council will submit a bond proposition to taxpayers at the April election. The matter was taken up at the City Council meeting yesterday and the city attorney instructed to prepare the necessary resolutions and ordinances by which the question will be submitted to the taxpayers. Commissioner Frost, head of the sewer department, and the city engineer's office, have gone over the matter of new sewers and estimate that an expenditure of $22,000 will cover present needs. This, it is pointed out, is an outside estimate and it is believed that the work can be done for considerably less. The residence sections will require the greater part of the new work, according to Commissioner Frost.

The Council yesterday authorized Commissioner Lawton to purchase materials for repairing the South Eighth street bridge over Monument creek, and the San Miguel street bridge over Shooks run. The latter bridge will have to be replaced completely, and all of the superstructure of the former will be new.

30 DELEGATES AT LEAST

Arrangements will be practically completed tomorrow for the delegation from Colorado Springs and Colorado College to the state Y. M. C. A. convention in Fort Collins next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Between 15 and 20 representatives from Colorado College will attend, and fully that number from the city Y. M. C. A.

Dean E. S. Parsons is chairman of the student committee, and will address the convention on Saturday afternoon on "The Advisory Board." The Rev. Merle N. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will be one of the principal speakers at the convention. The college department work of the convention is being emphasized this year, and over 150 college men are expected to be present.

GET FURNISHINGS HERE

At a meeting of the furnishings committee of the new Sunnyrest sanatorium held yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich on Wood avenue, plans for the fitting up of the rooms of the hospital were discussed. All furnishings for the sanatorium will be purchased in Colorado Springs. The committee has met with a hearty response on the part of the merchants. In addition to room furnishings, slippers, shawls, bathrobes and other comforts for the sick, as well as books are asked for by the committee.

LEASES VALUABLE BUSINESS SITE IN ST. LOUIS, MO.

E. F. Woesman, formerly of Colorado Springs, now living at Pasadena, Cal., has given a 99-year lease on his business property at 608 8 Washington avenue, St. Louis, Mo., to the Shoe Mart company. A 10-story building will be erected on the site. The property was purchased several years ago for $315,000, and is now valued at $650,000, or $12,000 a front foot. Mr. Woesman was in the grocery business in Colorado Springs for several years and still holds considerable property here.

About Tea

"There is a something about your tea that I do not find in other tea," so said a Colorado Springs lady. She did not know exactly what, or how to describe the difference, only there was a "something" our tea had that other teas lacked. That something was a little more quality.

It is guaranteed first picking and new crop.

NO CLUE TO FOOTPAD

No information that would lead to the discovery of the assailant of Hayden S. Brown, who was slugged and robbed Wednesday night near the police station, was discovered by the police yesterday. Chief of Police Taws had a conference with Brown, but the latter could tell nothing about the affair, other than that he was hit in the back of the head. Brown says he has no suspicions as to who his assailants were, but is working with the police in an effort to find them.

PUBLISHES ANNUAL REPORT

The Progessive Stove and Furnace company has just published its annual report, which shows a considerable increase in the business and assets. A larger force is employed than at any time in the history of the company, notwithstanding that February is considered the dullest month of the year. L. A. Foote is the manager of the company and has done much in bringing the plant to its present efficiency.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Dr. J. H. Franklin will address the Young Women's Christian association, 320 DeGraff building, at the vesper service Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock on the topic "Holding On." Miss Marjory Glen will sing. All women are cordially invited.

A meeting of the Book club will be held next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Professor Roger Motten will talk on "Vanity Fair." This club is open to all members of the association. Professor Motten closes a series of talks on "Great Books," which has been one of the most interesting and instructive courses ever offered by the association. A full attendance is desired for this closing lecture.

Registration for the new term evening classes will open next week. The office will be open every week day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Saturday evening until 8 o'clock. The new term opens Monday, February 13, and during the following week classes in sewing, cooking, millinery, embroidery and English grammar for foreigners will be started. Competent teachers have been secured for all of these and the fees are nominal. Miss Hildz Carrington will continue with the embroidery class. Mrs. E. L. Humphreys will have charge of the millinery class and Miss Helen Floyd Estill will superintend the sewing and cooking classes.

It has also been decided to start a choral class, if there is sufficient registration. Miss Lyon, who has had experience in this work in the association of Newark, N. J., will have charge of the class. Instruction in sight-reading, as well as chorus singing, will be given. Those who are considering this class will please meet Miss Lyon, Monday evening, February 13, at 8 o'clock.

A new departure in the Bible class will be a Bible class supper served in association rooms, 320 DeGraff building, on Monday evening, at 6:15, for 15 cents to members of the Bible class. The class will begin on Monday evening at 7:30. The course to be studied will be "The Social Teachings of Jesus." The instructor will be Miss Dice, general secretary. This class is open to all young women.

A tea room will be opened in association rooms, 320 DeGraff building, next Monday, February 6. Beginning on that day, tea, coffee and cocoa will be served every day, except Sunday, from 4 to 5, for 10 cents. Bread and butter sandwiches or rolls will be served with each order. It is hoped that members and friends of the association who are at leisure at this hour will find the association rooms a pleasant and restful place during the afternoon. The association desires in this way to be useful to those who are lonely, to those away from home, and to tired shoppers, and to any others who wish to avail themselves of these rooms, which are at all times open to the women of this community and to strangers.

News of Local Courts

OUSTER SUIT CONTINUES

The case of L. Hiner against Clyde L. Starrett is still being argued in the district court before Judge Morris. The hearing, which has occupied three days, will be resumed this morning. Hiner, former police magistrate, seeks to have Starrett, the incumbent, ousted from the office. Starrett was appointed under the charter. Hiner's attorney contends that Starrett's appointment is illegal.

R. C. Lass was fined $25 and costs in police court yesterday for peddling beef in the city without a license

Hildreth Frost, fined $25 in police court last week for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, has appealed to the county court. Frost says he will carry the case to the supreme court if necessary.

Rose Simmonds was granted a divorce in the county court yesterday from Albert J. Simmonds on the grounds of cruelty. The couple were married in New York, January 1, 1903.

The nonsupport case against Aden Baber was dismissed in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday at the request of the district attorney's office. Baber's wife was granted a divorce here several years ago and awarded the care of her two children. A few days ago she caused Baber's arrest, alleging that he had not contributed to their support. The action was dismissed when it was learned that Baber's mother would care for the children

FOLDING SLIPPERS

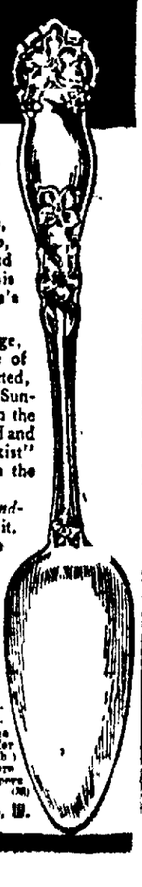

From the New York Sun.

Ordinary slippers do not take up such an enormous amount of space, and still many a man after he has got his bag packed has found it hard work to wedge in a pair. For travelers' use there are now made folding slippers which take up far less room

Folding slippers of one sort are made of pigskin tanned of a light russet color. They are heelless, with no stiffening in the counter and with a flexible sole. They are so creased that when not worn they fold readily into the smallest possible compass flat. Folded they are slipped into a flat pigskin case

The folding slippers of pigskin are lined with silk. They are comfortable, even luxurious, to wear. They cost $3.75 a pair. Other folding slippers are made of calfskin a lighter leather, that permits of folding the slippers into an even smaller space. These slippers of calfskin are made black and also in colors, and like those of pigskin they

Eat Luscious "Sunkist" Oranges

"Sunkist" Lemons

If you want the finest lemons ask for "Sunkist" brand and note how much juice they give and how much farther they go in preparing sauces, cakes, pies, etc.

Seedless Fibreless—Juicy and Sweet—A Perfect Fruit

Five thousand California orange farmers, raising 60 per cent of the state's entire crop, select, each season, their perfect oranges and pack them under the name "Sunkist." This enables you to recognize and buy California's choicest, tree-ripened oranges.

Until you have tasted a luscious "Sunkist" orange, you cannot begin to appreciate the excellence of oranges that are properly grown, rigidly inspected, carefully packed and swiftly transported. Serve "Sunkists" on your table tomorrow morning and learn the superiority of tree-ripened, fibreless, seedless, solid and sound oranges over the commonplace kind. "Sunkist" oranges are so nearly all food that they are much the cheapest kind to buy.

"Sunkist" oranges are thin-skinned and are hand-picked. The "Sunkist" orange is a firm, solid fruit. Ask your dealer for the "Sunkist" kind and make sure that each orange you get is packed in a tissue paper wrapper labeled "Sunkist." For these wrappers are valuable.

FREE.—This Handsome Rogers Orange Spoon

Save 12 "Sunkist" orange (or lemon) wrappers and send them to us, with 12c to pay charges, packing, etc., and we will present you with a genuine Rogers Orange Spoon, of beautiful new design and highest quality. Begin saving wrappers today. For each additional spoon desired send 12 "Sunkist" wrappers and 12c. In remitting, please send one cent stamps when the amount is less than 24c; on amounts above 24c we prefer money order, express order or bank draft. Don't send coin. We will be glad to send you complete list of valuable premiums. We honor both "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" wrappers.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

What is probably a new record for pardoning criminals of all classes has been established by Governor Patterson of Tennessee. Governor Patterson, the day before he retired from office, January 25, issued 17 pardons and commutations to convicts in the state prison, several of whom were serving sentences for murder. One of his acts, the pardoning of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, convicted of killing United States Senator Edward W. Carmack, raised much criticism. It is asserted that he has pardoned over 100 murderers. Governor Patterson retired in favor of the second Republican governor-elect since the Civil war, Benjamin W. Hooper.

WOULD RENAME ALL OF CHICAGO'S STREETS

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—John D. Riley, superintendent of the municipal bureau of maps and plats, has presented a plan for changing the names of Chicago's streets so that their titles will denote in which section of town they lie, just as the new house numbers now indicate their distance from the base lines—Madison street and State street.

The chief alterations he suggested were:

"Calling all north side thoroughfares "avenues.

"Calling all south side thoroughfares "streets."

Renaming all east and west thoroughfares on the north side by numerals preceded by the word "avenue," such as "avenue eight."

The superintendent explained that the system will obviate the necessity of prefixing "north" and "south" to names of streets running in those directions and will give to the stranger the exact information of the locality of a street.

COLD STORM MAY MAKE THE CARNIVAL POSSIBLE

LEXINGTON, Mass., Feb. 3.—Tomorrow there will be held here the "Lexington Winter Carnival," which is to be given in aid of the combined armory and museum to be erected under the auspices of the National Patriotic organizations, in memory of the "Minute Men of '76." The idea of the carnival, which is to be similar to that of Montreal, was broached last summer while President Taft was at Beverly and received his endorsement.

Preparations were completed weeks ago and various dates were set, but the perversity of the New England weather in bringing an open winter instead of the cold and snow desired, has repeatedly upset the plans. This week a cold storm gave new hope to the committee and the new date announced.

IMPORTS OF GEMS LESS AND AUTOMOBILES MORE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The monthly figures on the importation of precious stones and automobiles, which are taken as more or less of a barometer of the country's prosperity, show a depression in trade in gems and a slight increase in the purchase of foreign-made automobiles. The $3,060,000 worth of precious stones and pearls imported during January, 1911, is nearly a million and a half dollars less than the value of similar imports in January, 1910. Seventy nine automobiles were brought into New York during the month, however, as compared with 73, in January, 1910.

ANOTHER EARTH SLIDE REPORTED AT PANAMA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Another great earth slide a mile long has started to move in the Culebra cut in the Panama canal and already has covered the 35-foot bank of the canal opposite the towpath with 250,000 cubic yards of material. The slide began, according to the Canal Record, January 18, on the west bank opposite the Culebra hotel.

Up to January 25 the earth had not encroached on the railroad tracks in the lower part of the cut to any extent and operations there were not interfered with. Some hasty shifting of frame houses became necessary to save them.

DEAD MEN ON PAY ROLL OF U. S. STEEL CORPORATION

HAMMOND, Ind., Feb. 3.—Charges that "dead men" were being carried on the payrolls of the United States Steel corporation and the arrest of Charles Bloomfield, John Caldwell and Walter Thomas, timekeepers, are being investigated by the superior court grand jury here. The amount of the alleged peculations, it is said, will probably exceed $10,000.

According to a Gary undertaker, Rade Cegavic was dead and buried many months before his name was stricken from the payroll of the corporation. It is said this is only one of many cases.

REAPPORTIONING THE STATE.

A PERUSAL of the daily reports of the proceedings of the Legislature at Denver is enough to inspire almost any reader with a profound disgust with the whole lawmaking business, especially when we reflect that the Colorado Legislature is perhaps a fair sample of state assemblies throughout the country. This presumably representative body has now been in session for a month, and of course it has accomplished nothing at all. It meets every day, casts a perfunctory ballot for the senatorial candidates, indulges in a rambling discussion of everything in general and nothing in particular, and adjourns.

Thursday was the last day for the introduction of bills, and a night session was held to permit members to get their measures on file. The insatiable desire to make new laws, whether they are needed or not, which is characteristic of every law-making body in the country from Congress down to the smallest town council, is much in evidence in Denver just now. Every new-made solon from the short grass districts, from the mountains or the cities, firmly believes that he would not earn his salary unless he introduced at least a half dozen bills, and he is equally convinced that his own particular measures are the only really meritorious ones before the Legislature. The great majority of these measures are badly drawn and ill-considered. They serve only to advance the political fortunes of the individual who fathers them, or to gain a party advantage, and even if they fail to become laws they do a positive injury by consuming time which ought to be devoted to more important matters.

HOW THE GERRYMANDER WILL WORK. A good example of the bill aimed merely at partisan advantage is the reapportionment measure introduced by Representative Proske of Denver. If this bill becomes a law the result will be an altogether vicious gerrymander of the state, unjustly reducing Republican representation and increasing Democratic representation. Mr. Proske evidently has carefully studied the art of gerrymandering, for he has produced a measure which will serve its purpose admirably.

For instance, he makes El Paso County a senatorial district in itself, with no share in any other district. This is because El Paso is a Republican county. But Teller, which is generally Democratic, is not only constituted a senatorial district in itself but is also put in another district with Pueblo and Fremont counties for the purpose of pulling down their Republican majority. Again, Denver is divided into nine senatorial districts and is also included in two float districts with the less populous counties adjoining it in such a way as to control them entirely.

Another evidence of Mr. Proske's sagacity is in the allotment of representatives to El Paso County. It is placed in a district with Lincoln, Kit Carson and Cheyenne counties, with three representatives, which is the number now had by El Paso alone. By this means the possibility of electing another Republican representative from the other three counties named is forestalled. Weld County now has two representatives, but under the proposed law, Phillips, Yuma, Sedgwick and Logan counties are included in the same district, Denver's representation in the house is increased from 11 to 16, with still two more from the float districts adjoining.

The only circumstance that softens the severity of the criticism due the Democrats for this measure is that the Republicans probably would make just as bad a gerrymander in their own behalf if they had the chance. Each party is intent on strengthening itself by hook or crook whenever and wherever possible, and in the rivalry a just apportionment is almost out of the question. An arrangement which may be often does one are to prevent a fair expression of the popular choice at the polls has nothing to commend it, and this certainly applies to the reapportionment bill now before the Legislature.

PROTECTING PUBLIC HEALTH.

IN HIS recent congressional message President Taft renewed his recommendation for the creation of a bureau of health, "in which should be embraced all those Government agencies outside of the War and Navy Departments which are now directed toward the preservation of public health, or exercise functions germane to that subject." This measure, known as the Owen bill, is now pending in Congress. Another bill, which purports to seek the same object, has been introduced in the House by Congressman Mann and in the Senate by Senator Martin, but it is really an attempt to emasculate the Owen bill, which is the one supported by the Committee of One Hundred on National Health.

In all the talk about conservation comparatively little attention has been given to a vitally important phase of the subject the conservation of life. The Government properly spends immense sums annually, through the Department of Agriculture, to conserve and protect a part of the animal life of the country its live stock but it spends almost nothing to protect the health of its people. It has been estimated that the vital, or human, assets of the country are actually worth in dollars about five times as much as the material assets, and if this is the case it is worth while to give some attention to the conservation of human life. This is the object sought by the Owen bill.

As stated by the Committee of One Hundred on National Health:

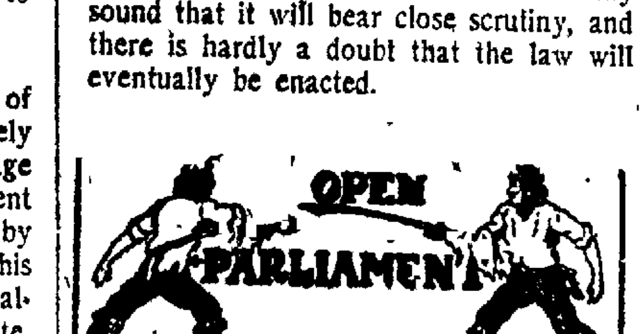

"The first duty of a National Health Department would be the suppression of disease-producing conditions which cannot now be reached by State and by City Boards of Health. Among such conditions are the pollution of interstate waters, the interstate traffic in injurious foods, milk and drugs and the interstate quarantine.

"The second duty of the National Health Department would be investigation of the unknown causes of some of the sickness and premature deaths. It is necessary to make national statistical studies of mortality and morbidity, and of geographical distribution of different diseases, and to make laboratory and experimental studies into the direct causes of acute and chronic ailments.

"A very important duty of a National Health Department would be the spreading of information. It is estimated that if the people of this country applied to themselves the knowledge already existing in some quarters as to what causes sickness and how to prevent it, the people might live at least 15 years longer than they can under present conditions.

"At present each State Board of Health is working as an independent organization. The fourth duty of the National Department of Health would be the correlation of them so that each would know what all are doing and all could thereby be as efficient as the best."

Considerable agitation is required before either Congress or public opinion can be brought to the point of unqualifiedly indorsing an innovation of this kind. But fortunately the idea is so fundamentally sound that it will bear close scrutiny, and there is hardly a doubt that the law will eventually be enacted.

THE RECALL PROPOSAL.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

In advocating the recall of Mayor Avery, I hope it will be understood that I am in no degree acting through personal ill-feeling. I have never had the slightest difficulty with him. Either through his peculiarities or infirmities or lack of experience, or through conditions that have surrounded him, or because of all of these matters, he has failed to give the city a satisfactory administration. That fact seems to be almost universally conceded. If his services have not been satisfactory, then why should his employer—the majority of the people—keep him in office for two more years? That is the very thing that the recall provision of the charter was intended to prevent. There is no real difference in principle between the employment of a public officer and the employment of an agent or manager in private business. If a merchant employed a manager for his store for a term of four years, but with a clear provision in the contract that if for any reason the manager's services were unsatisfactory to the merchant, the employment should cease, and then the merchant found the services were unsatisfactory he would not hesitate to put an end to the employment. The fact that the employe was honest would not alone cause the merchant to keep him. He wants efficiency as well as honesty. Precisely the same principle applies, or should apply, in city government.

We all know that the charter form of government is on trial in this city, and those who advocated the adoption of the charter do not want to see it fail. Yet, it is not easy to point out where government under the charter has been any better than it was under the old laws. The fault is not with the charter. That instrument was formulated by a body of able men. It was adopted by the citizens. It is a good fundamental law for the city. It is probable that no city has a better class of citizens, people who are more anxious for good government, than this city. With those facts before us, then what is the trouble?

The old laws were supposed to be insufficient and the people expended the time and money necessary to formulate and adopt the charter in order to correct old errors and give strength and efficiency to their government. Many new questions and many difficult problems arose under the new form of government. Mr. Avery had had no experience in such matters and he didn't know the errors in the old law that were supposed to be corrected by the charter, and, apparently, he failed to understand the powers or the duties that come to him. However honest he may be the simple fact seems to be that he cannot properly perform the duties of the office. But the people are not obliged to grin and bear it for two more years and he should not ask them to do so.

AS TO ADAMS COUNTY, OHIO.

From Harper's Weekly.

Adams county, Ohio, has given the rest of the country something to think about. Most of us, having been hitherto grossly ignorant concerning Adams county's character and ways, not to speak of its existence, now suddenly find ourselves in something of a quandary as to how we ought to feel about the self-revelation that Adams county has committed. It appears that Adams county, though decidedly rural and exceptionally native American in population, has for years taken its politics in anything but a high way; that the proportion of bribers and bribe-takers among its voters has been extraordinarily and shamefully high. But these things have transpired only because Adams county has at last had an awakening to its shame and guilt, and because a beginning has been made of the necessary house-cleaning—a very impressive beginning, if one considers the number of indictments. Ought we to be sorry and discouraged because Adams county has been so bad, or glad and encouraged because it has started in to do better? Both, perhaps, and the precise character of the mood which the Adams county situation induces must no doubt in some measure depend on the extent to which one has one's self encountered the sort of thing Adams county people have been guilty of. It is no new thing to find vote-selling among native Americans in rural regions; that was discovered abundantly a good many years ago by the first serious investigation of the subject ever made in this country. Some people have even gone so far as to declare that there is more bribery in the country than in the cities. But we trust none of our big cities will on that account relax the enforcement of such preventive laws as it may have available. The true value of the Adams county episode will be lost if it does not stimulate afresh, in city and country alike, the unending fight for decency in politics.

The early bird, so the sage affirms is always catching the choicest worms; and this is proof, says that old grouch, that man should hasten to leave couch. But the richest sleep that a man can have, the kind that acts as a balm and salve, is the sleep that comes when he ought to rise if he'd be "healthy, wealthy and wise." When a man gets up ere his sleep is done, and starts a-scratching around for mon, he may be filling his coffers deep, but, jumping ginger! he loses sleep! A yard of slumber is worth more kale than anything in this gloomy vale. Let others rustle, their vigils keep, while I'm enjoying my morning sleep. Let others capture the festive plunk; I'll snore a few in my downy bunk. And when I rise, after sleeping much, I feel like working, to beat the Dutch; my head is clear and my mind serene, I am not grouchy, or cross or mean. I shall not be by the sages bossed; their heads are addled, their wires are crossed, and I do not suffer for early worms, or boa constrictors or toads or germs.

The Daily Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"PASSAIC, N. J.—The diamond engagement ring as a symbol of plighted faith is a 'symbol of inferiority,' according to Dr. M. O. Kershet, a physician, whose engagement to Miss Gertrude Risker has just been announced.

"At the reception where the announcement was made Dr. Kershet surprised the guests by giving Miss Risker a set of elegantly bound books by Victor Hugo, Balzac, George Bernard Shaw, Ibsen, Tolstoi, Zangwill and others, instead of an engagement ring."

So announces a newspaper item.

A most interesting and intellectual departure, surely, but it seems to me that the very reason Dr. Kershet urges for his innovation is the reason that will make it unlikely to become a custom.

This is his argument—

In times long ago a man either captured his female partner or purchased her from her parents with presents. When she was his, he placed a crude ring upon her finger. It was regarded as a symbol of inferiority and made the wearer appear in the light of personal property. Miss Risker will not be my chattel, but my equal, my companion and helpmeet."

I am afraid that Dr. Kershet is reckoning without feminine instinct in his desire to dispose of the ring because it is the mark of possession.

For whether she admit it or not, the average woman, however clever, however intellectual, however superior to her masculine acquaintances she may be, WANTS TO BE POSSESSED.

I was reading in some biography the other day—I can't seem to think just whose it was—of a woman to whom her fiance offered a choice between a diamond locket with their pictures in it, and the conventional ring.

She liked the idea of the locket very much," says the biographer, "because it would be different, but she finally chose the ring because it seemed to mark her as more peculiarly his."

For the very reason, you see, for which Dr. Kershet would condemn it.

Woman wants to be pursued.
She wants to be captured.
She wants to be marked "property."

There's no use blinking it. There's no use trying to theorize it away. Whether it's the best way for her to feel or not, that's the way she does feel.

The woman who is lonely without her drunken husband to beat her has plenty of "sisters under the skin" in all ranks of society.

No, Dr. Kershet, you may be right in your ideal, but you are miles, or rather centuries, away from actual conditions.

Woman may be capable of being companions and helpmeets, but I am afraid we are likely to love best the lovers who have enough of the caveman left in them to want us to be property too.

FARM STOCK 100 YEARS AGO

Bridges for Pack Horses—A Famous "Pig Pointer" Great Flocks of Geese.

From the Westminster Gazette.

Sir Walter Gilbey has brought together a number of interesting facts concerning the live stock of the farm. Bleeding, the stock remedy for equine ills of every kind, was practised until comparatively recent times. The Essex farmers used to bleed their animals regularly in spring and autumn as late as the year 1856, and in some districts it was continued until about 1880.

But veterinary surgery did not embrace the study of cattle and sheep diseases at all. Treatment of sick cattle was referred to the local "leech," who, to quote a writer of the time, "knows as much of the diseases of animals as the beast to attend, which he is sent for."

Arthur Young writing in 1770, reckoned the total of cattle in England at over 2,800,000, including 684,000 draught cattle. The fact that some 4,890,000 cattle are now owned in England indicates the change in the cattle breeding industry during a hundred years. There are no reliable figures, Sir Walter says, to show what the horse population was at that time.

Apart from coaching, every country gentleman drove or rode in the good old days. The farmer and commercial traveller travelled on horseback or drove a gig. Goods in out of the way parts of England were still carried on strings of pack horses. The importance of the latter as a means of transport is shown by the old "pack horse" bridges still remaining over the streams in various parts of England. They are wide enough to allow a laden horse to pass, but too narrow for carts.

Some curious examples are supplied by Sir Walter Gilbey of the intelligence of the pig. One of the most remarkable examples is furnished by the famous "pig pointer," a black sow, which two king's keepers in the New Forest trained in a fortnight to find game, point and back almost as well as a pointer. The excellent scenting powers of the pig are, as is well known, utilized by French truffle finders, who train young swine to find the truffles, buried as they are a few inches below the soil. They were used for this purpose in England also, Sir Walter states; Lord Braybrooke kept truffle hunting pigs some fifty years ago.

Geese have gone somewhat out of fashion in these days, but formerly they were held to be the most profitable kind of poultry. They were raised in vast numbers in the Lincolnshire fens. Pennant says that a single person would keep as many as a thousand old birds, each of which raising seven goslings the owner at the year's end would find himself master of a flock of 8,000 birds. In the great tracks of fenland, before they were drained, over a thousand persons made their living out of geese. The profit of goosekeeping lay in the practice of plucking. The value of the goose feathers was estimated at about a shilling a head a year, and threepence more for the quills, at that time in general demand for pens.

THE ITALIANS IN NEW YORK

Alberto Pecorini, in the Forum.

Four-fifths of the Italians of New York come from centers of less then 10,000 population, and are therefore entirely new to the active and exciting life of a great city. American students of social conditions have referred to the Italian settlements of New York as cities within a city. As a matter of fact, they are a collection of small villages, with all the characteristics of village life. In one street will be found peasants from one Italian village; in the next street the place of origin is different and distinct, and different and distinct are manners, customs and sympathies. Entire villages have been transplanted from Italy to one New York street, and with the others have come the doctor, the grocer, the priest and the annual celebration of the local patron saint. The acute rivalry between village people, who have not developed and can scarcely be expected to develop in a short period what may be called "city consciousness," is perhaps the most important cause of the lack of coherence in the Italian mass, which makes impossible united and persistent effort on its part in any direction, economic, social or political.

In the Italian quarters the life is that of the tenement. The families are usually large and in most of them boarders are taken with a view to eking out the payment of the rent. There are tenements occupied by Italians in New York in which eight and ten men sleep in one room, with not more than 1,500 cubic feet of air to breathe, for eight or nine hours. Very often a whole family occupies a single sleeping room, children over fourteen years of age sleeping with their parents or with smaller brothers and sisters. The first consequence of this overcrowding is an astonishing decline in physical strength. Thousands of Italians who come to New York robust and healthy go back every year to their native country to die.

About Big Ben.

The very best alarm clock you can buy is Big Ben. It's not the cheapest, yet it is worth every penny of the two dollars and a half that you pay for it. A handsome appearance, a large dial easily read the length of the room, a melodious, accurate alarm, and perfect clock workmanship make this clock by all consent "The King of Alarm Clocks."

IGNORANCE CONCERNING JOURNALISM

Will Irwin in Colliers.

When the investigator looks for some formulation of the larger principles of journalism in relation to its times, he finds nothing. Try all the books listed under "journalism" in the Astor library in New York or the Congressional library in Washington. You will discover only a few treatises on the making of newspapers, a few volumes of pleasant reminiscences, one interesting but incomplete and shallow history. Dig further, the great social philosophers, who have worked out the relations of law, religion, commerce, of all the other permanent human forces to the modern organization of society mention journalism only in passing or not at all. Of the subtler modern philosophers Robert Louis Stevenson presents a type. Democratic as he was in sentiment and practice, he touched journalism only to revile it as the worthless imitator of his own higher art.

Now, religion, law, science art infused the ancient world as the modern, we had recognized them, had worked out their principles and their relation to society, before the great flowering of the human spirit in the Nineteenth century. Their maturity goes back to a formative youth. But this alone of our intellectual forces is new. Two centuries ago there was no such thing. A century ago we had newspapers so called but the were only infant second cousins to the modern newspaper.

A generation still lives which saw the birth of journalism in its present form. It has burst into the world with a flare of trumpets, but it has not even crept into the slow consciousness of the philosophers.

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is no one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." "The Press" has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Sunday and continuing during the week.

THE MOTHER OF WASHINGTON

The mother in her office holds the key
Of the soul; and she it is who stamps the coin
Of character, and makes the being who would be a savage,
But for her gentle cares, a Christian man.

—Old Play.

Just as Washington is inevitably to be known as the "Father of His Country," so the mother of Washington may be appropriately named the "mother of our nation." And that she is worthy of the title, as much so as her son is to his, was shown in all the noble deeds of this great American woman. Mary Washington's life was one unbroken series of praiseworthy actions. In the Revolutionary drama, in which she figured in many of its earlier scenes, by her noble and inspiring womanhood her example went far towards making and moulding the first chief of our nation.

Mary Washington's whole life was so strikingly grand, she was uniformly so gentle, so amiable and so dignified, that it would be difficult to fix the eye on any one act more striking than the rest. The illustrious son, naturally, so overshadowed the modest and unassuming mother, that we are very prone to forget to give credit to the woman to which he owed much of his greatness. Always absorbed in her domestic duties she discharged so faithfully, she made her great gift to men, and then passed from the stage as quietly and as modestly as she had lived and labored.

But Washington never forgot the real source of his greatness. He was always mindful of the woman whose virtues had warmed his own, and had fitted him to become the man of unbending integrity and heroic courage. Washington's father having died when George was a young man, it fell to the lot of the mother to rear her five children with that untiring hand which guided so many widows through this perilous season. And as the richest reward of a mother's solicitude and toil, she had the happiness of seeing all of her children come forward with a fair promise into life, and lived to witness the noble career of her eldest son, till, by his own rare merits, he was raised to the head of a nation, and applauded and revered by the whole world.

Had Washington failed, the cause of liberty would have failed also. But, thanks to the great mother's teaching, he looked within when all was dark, took courage and fought on until the clouds has disappeared and he stood forth in the bright sunlight looking over a triumphant infant nation, which was to become one of the greatest on the globe.

How thoroughly typicial of the mother was her reception of the news of her son's successful passage of the Delaware in the black December of 1776. When she came to those portions of the despatches which were panegyrical of her son, she modestly and coolly observed to the bearers of the good tidings, that "George appeared to have deserved well of his country for such signal service. But, my good sirs," she added, "here is too much flattery! Still George will not forget the lessons I have taught him—he will not forget himself, though he is the subject of so much praise."

Another splendid example of the type of woman as was the mother of George Washington, is expressed in the final visit of General Lafayette to pay his respects to her just before starting for his home in France, in 1784. Conducted by one of her grandsons, he approached the house, when the young gentleman observed:—

"There, sir, is my grandmother!" Lafayette beheld—working in the garden, clad in domestic-made clothes, and her gray head covered with a plain straw hat—the mother of his hero, his friend and a country's preserver! The lady saluted him kindly, observing: "Ah, Marquis! you see an old woman; but come, I can make you welcome to my poor dwelling without the parade of changing my dress."

During the interview, Lafayette, referring to her son, could not withhold his encomiums, which drew from the mother this beautifully simple remark: "I am not surprised at what George has done, for he was always a good boy."

On the seventh of May, 1833, the cornerstone of a fine monument was erected over her grave in the cemetary at Fredericksburg, and General Jackson, then President of the United States, closed his address with the following tribute: "Fellow citizens, at your request, and in your name, I now deposit this plate in the spot destined for it; and when the American pilgrim shall, in after ages, come up to this high and holy place, and lay his hand upon this sacred column, may he recall the virtues of her who sleeps beneath, and depart with his affections purified, and his piety strengthened, while he invokes blessings upon the Mother of Washington."

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"A BROKEN IDOL" MATINEE TODAY

"A Broken Idol,' a musical farce of surprises, will be seen at the Opera House this afternoon and night. The matinee commences at 3 o'clock and the night preformance begins at 8:30 o'clock. The prices are. Matinee, 25c, 50c, 75c and $1, night, 50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. Good seats may yet be secured for either performance. This is the first matinee of a musical comedy this season, and this fact, together with the reputation and merit of "A Broken Idol," should pack the theater at the afternoon performance. "A Broken Idol" ran for eight months in Chicago, six months in New York and seven months in critical Boston. A company of 50 is carried, together with a complete scenic and costume production.

MISS PERLE BARTI,

Prima Donna With "A Broken Idol," Which Will Be Seen at the Opera House Today, Matinee and Night. This Is the First Matinee of a Musical Comedy to Be Played at the Opera House This Season.

Perle Barti heads the cast of principals.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer says of "A Broken Idol:"

"There is good entertainment at the Grand this week. Yesterday a musical farcicality, for which a number of well-known authors and composers are responsible, called 'A Broken Idol,' made its first appearance in this city and delivered everything that had been claimed for it. In fact, the advance claims were, if anything, too modest, for the piece has merit and attractiveness. Many musical pieces have been sent here to play at the $2 scale, which did not have the meat and merit of this one. Miss Perle Barti is about as charming a young lady as one could wish to see. And she can sing, too, that being on an equality with her good looks. It was in 'A Broken Idol' that the 'balloon girl' was first shown. Miss Barti does the trick, rising high over the audience, swaying from one side to the other, and then, with a swoop, descending nearly to the heads of the fascinated spectators."

DENVER LIKES "THE ARCADIANS"

Denver likes that beautiful musical comedy, "The Arcadians," which Charles Frohman will send to the Opera House for one performance only, Monday night, and for which seats are now selling at the Opera House box office at a scale of prices ranging from 50 cents to $2. The Broadway theater, Denver, where this charming light opera is now playing, is being packed to the doors each night of this week.

The Denver Post says:

"It is not easy to describe charm, to say wherein the fascination of a thing lies, but 'The Arcadians,' sumptuously staged, admirably acted and sung, is a fresh and pleasing note in musical comedy, and will appeal to all who like tuneful music, good dancing, clever comedy and attractive but seldom fresh (in Denver) accessories of scenery and costumes. It is at the Broadway, and is worthy of praise. No musical comedy that has come to Denver in a decade is worthier. It is original in conception, truly artistic in setting, effective and often brilliant in presentation. It is above the average musical comedy in that its score being more serious and its lyrics better arranged. The music is its chief recommendation, and in the rendition of the music does its highest merit lie. The plot is light, though the element of comedy is ever present, comedy of a refreshing sort, clean, and calculated to produce genuine laughter as opposed to burlesque.

"The burden of the plot falls on a group of principals rather than on any one individual. Gilbert Childs and John Osborne are the comedians, and they are extremely funny. Alice Russon is quite a bit of a dancer, you know a real, 'Gaiety Gurrl'—while her running mate, Vernon Davidson, dances as if her tootsies had been perpetually bathed in Irish dew, they are so nimble. The prima donna, Ruth Thorp, has a pleasing mezzo-soprano which she uses with fine discretion. The chorus girls are adorable, and it may be necessary to guard the stage door of the Broadway this week, for they are all exhilaratingly dashing, both on and off the stage. In every way 'The Arcadians' is a classy show, and one that should not be missed by even the most blase."

"THE VIRGINIAN"

"The Virginian," which comes to the Opera House Thursday night, is a production with a strong heart appeal and free from anything at which the most fastidious could take offense, as an example. The curtain of the third act rises on a moonlit gorge in the Rockies where Steve, Trampas—Steve's evil genius and the Virginian's enemy—a Mexican and another are playing poker and cooking supper at a fire. They're a reckless daredevil quartet, and they plan what they shall do with their money, all the while aware that if they are captured it means rope for four necks. Trampas and another going away to take a look out leave Steve and the Mexican.

The Mexican is scared. Steve who is not bad at heart assumes a bold front. A few minutes before he has threatened to fight Trampas for saying ill things of the Virginian and as he sits here, he knows that if the Virginian whom he loves, is at the head of the searching expedition it means discovery and death. Then is heard the cracking of the twig, and the men start. The Mexican is weak with alarm, Steve cheers him up. It's nothing he says. He urges the Mexican to play the game like a man and if he loses to take his medicine gracefully. Suddenly the two men are surrounded by the Virginian and his men.

There follow incidents of grim humor when Steve meets his old acquaintances and of intense pathos when he and the Virginian look at each other in silence. Not a word speaks the Virginian until he steps forward to shake hands and say farewell to his doomed friend. But the latter turns his back. A moment later he writes on a piece of newspaper an affectionate note of farewell to the Virginian and tells him he did not speak to him, he could not have endured the agony of it. As other men lead the courageous Steve and the craven Mexican away to die, the Virginian, his heart aching, reads this note.

This is said to be the strongest scene in the play, and is well worth the price of admission. Earle Ryder will be seen in the title role. Mr. Ryder has earned for himself a reputation that he may well be proud of, and is sure to make a good Virginian. Under the management of the La Shelle Virginian company, a first-class performance is warranted.

"THE TRAVELING SALESMAN"

Henry B. Harris will present James Forbes' comedy of American commercial life, "The Traveling Salesman," at the Opera House next week, for one performance only. Mark Smith heads the company.

This play has enjoyed uninterrupted popularity since its first production, two years ago, at the Liberty and Gaiety theaters in New York, where it ran nine months to crowded houses. It serves the happy medium of presenting the commercial salesman in the light of a human being, and not the story-telling, whisky-drinking caricature pictured in the comic supplement. Incidentally, it may be remarked that this same commercial salesman has been the biggest "booster" for the comedy, scattering the news of its excellence from town to town and from hamlet to junction, so that the buyers for every small general store in the country are familiar with some of the jokes and slang phrases that it contains.

The American drummer is a disseminator of slang, but Mr. Forbes has gone him one better, inasmuch as the slang in "The Traveling Salesman" is pertinent, humorous and entirely to the point. Many catch words and comical expressions have been taken from this play and handled until they have become current, and the audiences roar with laughter when they recognize them applied directly to some situation in the piece.

The love story of Bob Blake for Beth Elliott, the pretty operator of the little railroad station, is well known by this time, but the popularity of the piece is unabated, and the same persons go season after season to have a hearty laugh with the village characters and enjoy the poker game on Christmas day in the Elite hotel.

DIVERSIFIED BOOKING AT MAJESTIC TODAY

Sullivan and Considine offer Majestic patrons another interesting bill for the coming week, opening this afternoon. There is an excruciatingly funny sketch, filled with dramatic situations, also an Indian snake dance that is unlike anything ever seen here, while the remainder of the bill is made up of clever acts, which round out an entertainment of rare quality.

Frederick Hallen and Molly Fuller present Fred J. Beaman's clever playlet, "A Lesson at 11 P. M.," in such a perfect manner that it is a scream from start to finish. The sketch is filled with laughable situations. Miss Fuller, as Mrs. Huddleson, in an effort to make her husband jealous, hires a tramp to aid her, and when her husband returns home and finds a strange man in his apartment, the fun starts.

Princess Indita, in "The Indian's Sacrifice," is the most sensational act of its kind in vaudeville, featuring a real, live rattlesnake dance. The princess is the daughter of the chief of the Moqui Indians of New Mexico, where the snake dance is a yearly event, and Indita is the only woman in the world today in vaudeville handling real, live rattlesnakes.

The Rials are a pair of eccentric acrobats and jugglers, who perform many difficult feats. Several of their acts on flying rings are very much out of the ordinary.

Kretore, "The Mad Musician," will please his audiences with his act, in which he gets real music from seemingly impossible instruments, the number being both novel and musically enjoyable.

The most pleasing juvenile act that has appeared in the city this season is that of the Heim children. These two little people are both very clever and give out a line of catchy songs and clever dialogue and monologue in such a manner that they win their audiences at once.

Two first-run films will be shown by the Majestiscope. One is serious and the other comic, and they fill their places in the well-banlanced bill, which a delightful orchestra program makes complete.

"PICTURE PLAYS" INCREASING IN POPULARITY AT LYRIC AND CRYSTAL

At The Crystal—"The Test of Friendship." A genuine Edison thriller. The action takes place about a 20-story building in process of construction, from the top of which the workmen are shown descending to lunch. On the twentieth story a desperate fight takes place and a most sensational rescue is effected of a man suspended hundreds of feet above the ground.

"Clancy."—He is the man that does his duty, the cop that patrols his beat every other day in the year preserves order, keeps the peace, and deservedly earns his sergeant's stripes and shield and gets the ill will of the gang. They do him up on Christmas day. He's brought home to his family almost dead, but he recovers and spends a Happy New Year with his wife and child.

At The Lyric—"The Crimson Scars." The story of a sweet, stage-struck girl who, through heroic action wins a place in stardom.

"Fire! Fire! Fire!" A rip-roaring comedy dealing with suffragettes.

"Help Wanted." A short comedy subject showing how the young spendthrift's bluff was called by his uncle. He makes a desperate appeal for help stating he is on the verge of starvation, and if he does not help him out by 8 o'clock that evening he will commit suicide. Uncle, however, discovers the hoax of his threat, and, instead of giving him financial aid, gives him an envelope containing the "Help Wanted" column from the morning paper. A gentle hint to go to work. Approximate length, 605 feet.

NO DYSPEPSIA STOMACH GAS OR INDIGESTION

Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feels Fine Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn that is a sign of Indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any stomach disorder.

President Alfaro of Ecuador, whose country, it is believed, will soon be at war with Peru. Many report of clashes between Peruvians and Ecuadorians on the frontier, in which soldiers of both countries have been killed, have been received. The situation is assuming an acute aspect and much uneasiness is felt in both countries.

Robert Young, ironmonger, Edinburgh, who passed away recently was known far and wide as a collector of horseshoes. Row upon row, on the walls of his shop, hung shoes dating from the time of the Roman occupation (those having been found in Monmouthshire) down to the present day. Among the latter were included shoes worn on the day of the race by such famous derby winners as Lord Rosebery's Ladas and Sir James Miller's Rock Sand. Every country in the world, from China to Peru, had been laid under tribute.

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use; and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

JANUARY SHIPMENTS UNIFORMLY HEAVY

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—The boiler battery and compressor at the Index Gold Mining company's main shaft on Gold hill was steamed up this morning and active operations resumed. The shaft was closed down late in the fall, when the water level was reached at an approximate depth from surface of 1,200 feet. The water has now receded and sinking is to be resumed. Ore of better than average grade had been exposed in the lower workings, when the temporary shutdown was ordered. President and General Manager W. R. Foley will give personal supervision to the work to be undertaken, and it is understood that the levels not re-[illegible] for operation on company account will be leased out.

Mary McKinney Output.

The January output from the properties of the Mary McKinney company, on Raven and Gold hills, totaled 35 cars, or about 1,060 tons of milling grade ore. The properties shipping were the main Mary McKinney shaft, the Howard and Pressler shafts and the Graco Greenwood. Ore was also shipped from properties operated through the Anaconda tunnel. The company is now operating the main shaft. Winzes have been started to prove the water level, and sinking of the shaft will follow.

Doctor-Jack Pot Lessees' Output.

The production made from the active properties of the Doctor-Jack Pot Mining company, during January, amounted to 26 cars, or about 780 to 800 tons of ore. The active properties, all operated under the leasing system, are the Lucky Corner, under lease to the Humphries-Thompson Leasing syndicate; the Doctor, Ingham and Davenport shaft, on the Jack Pot. The average grade of the ore was of about $25 value per ton.

Findley-Shurtloff Mines.

The Findley and Shurtloff mines of the Findley Consolidated Gold Mining company, on Bull hill, produced 21 cars of ore, approximately 700 tons of milling grade ore, during January. Bowen-Pullen, operating the Shurtloff under lease, is opening up a new ore body, and the February production should show increase.

Locations Filed.

Location certificates for the Gold Quartz, Dead Pine, Apex and Sunset lode mining claims in this district have been filed for record by A. L. Adams.

A Strike on Battle Mountain.

A rich and important strike has been made on Battle mountain by Clabe Jones and F. Stotts of this city, operating the Coriolanus and Triumph properties on the southwestern slope of Battle mountain. Operating through the Coriolanus shaft, these lessees have opened up ore of five-ounce grade by extending one of the old drifts but a few feet to the north. A shipment is being saved and will be loaded out by the first of next week.

Work Activity.

Eight sets of lessees are engaged on the properties of the Work Mining and Milling company, on Gold and Raven hills, and the output will total between 75 and 100 tons a week of milling grade ore. Ore has recently been opened up at the 500-foot level of the main Morning Glory shaft of better than average grade, and with development the find may prove an important and profitable one. Two cars of ore were shipped by lessees today.

Jo Dandy Production.

The January output from the Jo Dandy mine, on Raven hill, amounted to approximately 350 tons of an average value of about one ounce. The grade was lowered by shipments from the dump. Five sets of lessees are at work, and the company has timbermen at work retimbering the main shaft.

High-Grade Assays.

Assays ranging from five to 12 ounces gold to the ton were made yesterday on ore from the new shaft on the south end of the Sheriff mine, on Raven hill. This ore, encountered in sinking the shaft, at a depth of about 35 feet from surface, carries both sylvanite and rusty gold. The property is under lease to Felix Walters of this city, but the strike was made by sublessees.

Golden Cycle Dividend.

Checks for the February dividend, at the rate of 2 cents per share, have been received by resident stockholders of the Golden Cycle Mining company. It is generally believed that the present rate of 2 cents per month will be continued unless the control of the corporation passes to the English syndicate said to be negotiating for its purchase.

Last Dollar Annual.

A call has issued for the deferred annual stockholders' meeting of the Last Dollar Gold Mining company, to be held at the office of the company in the Cooper building, in Denver, on Wednesday, February 8. At this meeting directors will be elected and such other business transacted as may legally arise. The Last Dollar Nos. 1 and 2 shafts are operated under the leasing system, and producing a good average grade of ore.

Affidavit of Labor.

An affidavit of labor performed on the Hoagland placer claim in this district, at the expense of the owner, Julia Sanders, has been filed for record with the clerk and recorder.

PRICE ADVANCE IN STOCKS CURTAILED

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Various restraining influences today prevented continuation of the advance in prices which went on without serious interruption through preceding seven days of trading on the stock exchange.

Sporadic movements at various places through the list gave the market an irregular tone. While the Hill and Harriman stocks and United States Steel were lagging under pressure, the coal stocks and the Gould group were advancing, although they, too, shared in the decline at the close. The strength of the Gould issues received discussion of possible change in control of those properties. In the absence of any authoritative information, Wall Street is inclined to the belief that Standard Oil interests will soon be dominant. Considerable attention was given to a report, which also lacked official confirmation, that arrangements were under way which contemplated formation of a steel corporation of large capitalization by interests formerly identified with United States Steel.

The copper shares yielded much of their recent gain after a further advance early in the day.

A hardening tendency in the money market was noted today for the first time in several weeks, and was presumed to be a reflection of increased demand for speculative purpose. Known movements of money for the week to the close of business last night indicated a cash gain of more than $12,000,000, and the banks made a further gain of $1,365,000 from the subtreasury today.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $3,595,000.

United States 3's registered declined ½ on call.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Colorado Springs Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

When your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
When urinary troubles set in,
Your kidneys are "in a bad way."
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Here is local evidence to prove it: Mrs. John Hill, 1202 Grant street, Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I have nothing to retract from the public statement I gave in December, 1906, regarding my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. They benefited me wonderfully at that time and I hold just as high an opinion of them now as when I first spoke in their favor. I had a burning sensation in my back and suffered greatly from pains through my loins. My limbs often became badly swollen and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Friends told me that these were symptoms of kidney complaint and being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co. The contents of one box made a decided improvement and I continued taking this remedy until my trouble had been driven away. My willingness to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills is due to the fact that my cure has been permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WHEAT CONTINUES ITS HEAVY TONE

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Prospects of a fair increase in the visible supply this week put a finishing touch today to weakness in wheat. At the corresponding time a year ago there was a decrease of 339,000 bushels. Closing prices were ⅛c to ½@⅝c under last night. The end of the session left corn ⅛c to ¼c up, oats at an advance of a shade to ⅛c, and provisions 2½c to 12½c down.

Wheat displayed a heavy tone all day. There was much unloading by longs who had bought on the idea that the southwest would develop crop damage reports. As a fact, the weather in the entire section turned mild instead of developing the cold wave which had been looked for. Moreover, predictions were current that wheat stocks at Kansas City would be more than 5,000,000 bushels by the end of the month, the largest total there on record. In this connection it was pointed out that Minneapolis had enlarged her store of wheat 890,000 bushels this week and Duluth had gained 355,000 bushels. World shipments promised a big falling off, any thing that would impede the downward slide of the market. May fluctuations ran from 95⅛c to 96⅝c, with last sales ⅛@⅜c off at 95⅜c.

Signs of unsettled weather indicating light loadings in the country helped to strengthen corn. May ranged from 49⅝c to 50¼@⅜c, and closed at 50¼c, a net gain of ⅛c. Cash corn was steady. No. 2 yellow finished at 47½@48c.

There was considerable covering of short oats. May varied between 32⅝c and 33⅛c, closing a shade up at 33⅛c.

Provisions weakened because of unloading of packers. The outcome was a net decline of 7½c to 12½c in pork and 2½c to 5c for both lard and ribs.

DISTRIBUTIVE TRADE CONTINUES QUIET

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say.

While optimism as to the future outlook is rather more pronounced than in any previous week this year, actual distributive trade is still quiet and business expands slowly.

Wholesale trade is hardly better than fair. The far-western agricultural regions note considerable caution in making purchases.

Farm implements are in active demand and some leading plow manufacturers report the largest orders ever booked at this season.

Improvement in the finished branches of the steel trade continues to make progress and operations tend to increase.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending February 2 were 289, as compared with 345 last week, 228 in the like week of 1910, 286 in 1909, 272 in 1908, and 198 in 1907.

SAYS KING GEORGE'S TRIAL WAS "WHITEWASH"

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Edward H. James, the editor of the Liberator, whose article was the basis of the suit against Edward Mylius, convicted in London for libelling King George, has issued a statement saying the trial of his British agent was illegal and the proceedings a "whitewashing." The statement proceeds:

"The trial was illegal because Mylius was not indicted but was tried under an information 'ex-officio' which is used only in charges of sedition. It was a whitewash because the crown had no right to call witnesses to disprove charges when the defendant had refused to offer evidence proving the charges. Mylius, having refused to substantiate that bigamy was practiced, the case ended immediately.

"Mylius refused to proceed because the king refused to testify. If the king had gone on the stand and sworn that the marriage had not occurred, I would be glad to apologize in the Liberator, which under the circumstances can only attack the trial as a violation of almost every principle of English law, evidence and liberty."

SCARCITY OF RELIABLE INSURANCE COMPANIES

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Notwithstanding the numerous fire insurance companies doing business in New York, there is an inadequacy of protection due to a scarcity of reliable companies, according to a report of the committee on fire insurance submitted to the chamber of commerce. A proposal to bring in additional companies is opposed on the ground that there is need, first, of an up-to-date fire alarm system for New York, which has long been regarded as the "worst in any city."

The committee points out a remarkable instance of inadequate insurance protection in a down-town business action where the value of insurable property amounts to half a billion dollars. "The capital and net surplus of all the stock insurance companies admitted to do business in this state aggregates $233,233,000," says the report, "but if each of these companies were to insure in the district referred to, in an amount equal to its capital and net surplus, there would still be left about $266,000,000 seeking insurance."

STATE LAND BOARD IS IN BAD SHAPE

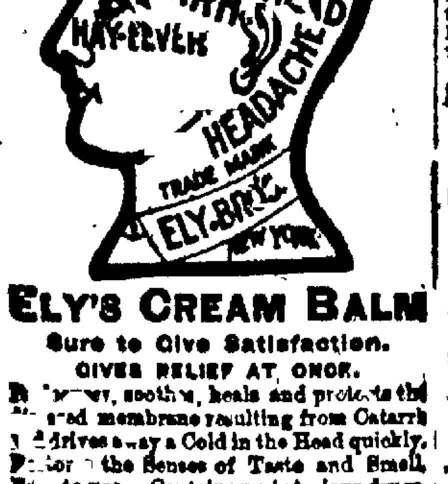

DENVER, Feb. 3.—Owing to the fact that the senate has failed to confirm the names of Edward Keating and Blair Burwell, recently appointed state land commissioners by Governor Shafroth, the state land board is in rather a helpless condition. Dr. B. L. Jefferson, registrar of the board, is at present the only member, his name having been confirmed. The land board must approve all applications for Carey act grants and auction sales, and, as there is legally no board, anything accomplished by Dr. Jefferson goes for naught until it is confirmed at a meeting of the full board. The senate has had the names under consideration for three weeks.

Do you know that croup can be prevented? Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It is also a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Sold by all dealers.

TWO BOYS ARE VICTIMS OF ONE BULLET IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—One boy is dead and a playmate is dying in a Brooklyn hospital today as the result of one bullet accidentally fired from a pistol they found in the street. Joseph Britton, five years old, was shot through the head and killed. Thomas Kennedy, two years older, has a wound in his face which will probably prove fatal. The revolver had been abandoned in a vacant lot by a fleeing Italian involved in a shooting scrape. The little chaps were examining it together when it went off.

MODERN DRAMATIC ART.

The Actor.—How's business?

The Actress.—Bad! Two measly face powder testimonials so far this week.

To the victors belong the spoils, and to the vanquished the privilege of indulging in sarcastic criticism.

A SUGGESTION.

Her Husband.—It's nonsense to send so many missionaries abroad! Don't you think so, George?

George.—Of course! There's plenty of missionary work to be done at home!

She.—True; and some folks who might do it prefer to spend their time criticising the practice of sending missionaries abroad!

ESCAPED PART OF THE TROUBLE

Jones.—Yes; I've had dyspepsia for ten years, but I have n't said much about it. Very few people know it.

Smith.—Well, there is n't much sympathy for it.

Jones.—No; and there are so many remedies.

CHOPPING HIM OFF.

Borrowby.—My dear fellow, can you—

Grimshaw.—Borrowby, do you take me for an average?

"An er average?"

"Yes; if not, why are you always trying to strike me?"

A FRIENDLY POINTER.

Jinks.—What! You don't mean to say you are engaged to the beautiful Miss De Pink?

Blinks.—Yes, I do. Got engaged to her last night. This afternoon I am to bring her downtown. She wants to go to an optician's, I believe. New pair of eye-glasses, or something. She is near-sighted, you know.

Jinks.—I say, old fel! Just slip around to that optician's and bribe him not to give her any better glasses than she has.

HIS AGONY.

Harrity.—How'd yez fale now?

McGubberty (with his hands clasped over his abdomen).—Begorra! Oi am in sich pain thot Oi can't do jestice to ut unliss Oi can git somebody to hilp me ache! Thot's how Oi fale!

CONVINCING EVIDENCE.

Friend.—That song of yours has become very popular, hasn't it?

The Song Writer.—Yes;—I've heard a number of people swearing at it.

Women are pessimists; men optimists. When a woman feels blue she sits down and has "a good cry." When a man gets in the same condition he goes around the corner and takes a smile.

In many cases, the energy that is wasted in struggling against the inevitable might have prevented it from becoming inevitable.

A TERRIBLE THOUGHT.

"The first writing was done on stone," remarked the dry goods clerk boarder, who had been reading, lately.

"Great Heavens! Think of the postage!" involuntarily exclaimed the rising poet, with a shudder that rattled the dishes and caused the larger atoms of hash to come to the top.

FINIS.

She had rejected him.

"And is this the end?" he sadly [illegible].

"It is," answered the literary maiden; "and there will be no sequel, either!"

WHERE THE QUILL PEN SURVIVES

From the London Chronicle

Quill pens as an official correspondent explains, survive in government offices as outward and visible signs of officialism like blue paper and red tape In the courts they are indispensable for who can imagine counsel taking a note with a steel pen or using it to point at a witness or to give emphasis to an argument? But the art of mending quills is almost lost, and probably 99 out of 100 readers who attempted to 'nib' one after the manner of Dotheboys Hall would succeed only in cutting their thumbs

The use of quill pens is by no means confined to government offices. Several well known novelists still stick to the quill it is indeed the only writing implement with any personality— if it is refractory you can coax it. The mending of a quill does not require much practice and you can buy for a few shillings a little machine that does it for you beautifully. You may easily write 15,000 words with one quill mending it [illegible] times which gives six quills to the novel

The above label is issued The Colo Springs Gazette by the Allied Printing Trades Council because it employs none but members of the Allied Printing Trades in all its departments

THE ladies of the G. A. R. will give a baked bean dinner in G. A. R. hall this (Saturday) evening, from 5 to 8. Admission, 25c.

EXAMINATIONS—Civil service examinations for clerical and subclerical positions will be held in the postoffice building today under the federal commission, in charge of Secretary Claire Thomas, of this city.

INSPECTION—Co. A, N. G. C., was inspected last night at Temple theater, under the direction of Colonel C. B. Carlisle, inspector general of the Colorado militia. Company affairs were reported to be in a very satisfactory condition.

MARRIAGE LICENSE—A marriage license was issued from the county clerk's office yesterday to Edwin G. Brown, aged 51 years, and Pauline Simkins, aged 34, both of Pueblo. Brown was divorced in Montrose in April, 1909, on the grounds of desertion.

LARGE DELEGATION—Over 200 music lovers from Pueblo arrived on a special Denver and Rio Grande train to attend the concert given by Josef Hofmann at the Opera House last night. The train arrived at 7:30 o'clock and left soon after the recital was over.

M. O. JONES MARRIES—Morgan O. Jones, for several years clerk at the Alamo hotel of this city, and now chief clerk of the Adams hotel in Denver, was married Wednesday to Miss Bessie May White. Cards announcing the marriage were sent out by Mrs. Mary O. White, mother of the bride. The couple will be at home after February 15 at the Vermont apartments, Denver.

JANUARY BUILDING PERMITS—Building permits for the month of January provide for $34,602 worth of new construction work in Colorado Springs. Chief items in the list were the permits for a $6,000 brick garage being built by the Stratton estate on North Nevada avenue, the $34,000 building of the Star and Crescent creamery, and the $3,000 preliminary work for the Spencer Penrose private greenhouses.

MOTHER AND ADMIRER OF DOROTHY ARNOLD COMING

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Francis D. Arnold, Dorothy Arnold's mother, and George S. Griscom, Jr., one of Dorothy's admirers, are steaming across the Atlantic on different boats, bound for New York, according to dispatches here today.

Mrs. Arnold is said to have sailed from Genoa, Italy, after her interview with Griscom had satisfied her that he knew nothing of the missing heiress' whereabouts. Griscom is due to reach New York next Thursday.

John S. Keith, the lawyer, and John Arnold, the missing girl's brother, who went to Philadelphia yesterday afternoon to follow a clew there, had not returned to their offices this forenoon.
